CO-HOSTS USA IN SUPER 8s AFTER WASHOUT, PAKISTAN OUT OF WC

2009 World T20 champs crashed out after the game between USA and Ireland was abandoned. With an extra point, USA took unassailable lead

APT END TO A DISAPPOINTING CAMPAIGN

Unfortunately for Pakistan, this campaign finished even before it started. At some level, it's apt. The 2022 finalists tried and failed to evolve in this format and can now do a major squad surgery. In the short-term, both their defeats, one to USA and the other to India, will rankle because they lost from winning positions. They will play Ireland in the last game on Sunday

INDIA'S MATCH COULD ALSO BE RAINED OUT

Talks, diplomacy path for Ukraine peace, says Modi

PM holds talks with Zelenskyy; also invites Pope Francis to India

Prime Minister Narendra Modi embraces Pope Francis at Italy's Apulia on Friday | X

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi held bilateral talks with world leaders at Italy's Apulia on the sidelines of the G7 summit, but what caught the eye were his interactions with US President Joe Biden, Ukranian President Volodymyr Zelenskyy, and Pope Francis.

"It's always a pleasure to meet @POTUS @JoeBiden. India and USA will keep working together to further global good," Modi said in a post on X along with photos of their interaction.

In his talks with Zelenskyy, Modi assured him that India would continue to do everything within its means to support a peaceful solution to the Ukraine war, adding the way to peace is through "dialogue and diplomacy". He said India believes in a human-centric approach to the conflict.

Modi described the meeting as very productive and said India is eager to further cement bilateral relations. External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar and Foreign Secretary Vinay Kwatra were part of Modi's delegation at the talks.

The Ukranian readout said, "The president spoke about the functioning of the Black Sea transport corridor, which makes it possible to increase exports of sunflower oil to India and turnover of other categories of goods."

Later in the day, Modi met Pope Francis with a warm embrace at the Outreach session of the G7 Summit and invited him to visit India. "Met Pope Francis on the sidelines of the @G7 Summit. I admire his commitment to serve people and make our planet better. Also invited him to visit India," Modi said in a post on X.

Modi was seen in a light-hearted exchange with the 87-year-old head of the world-wide Catholic Church.

He also held talks with Italian Prime Minister Giorgia Meloni, who is hosting the G7 Summit, British Prime Minister Rishi Sunak and French President Emmanuel Macron. Modi also met Canadian Prime Minister Trudeau.

Delimitation hurdle for women quota

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

WITH its Southern allies in play, the BJP-led NDA government may face roadblocks in implementing the Women's Reservation Bill, which hinges on Census and delimitation.

With the TDP, the main ally of the NDA, calling for consensus on delimitation, the BJP may face huge challenges in implementing the bill passed during Modi 2.0. The 33% quota for women in the Lok Sabha and state assemblies will come into force after delimitation of Lok Sabha seats, scheduled for 2026.

Several Opposition parties from the South have raised concerns that the delimitation on the basis of population would lead to the states losing out in representation as they were successful in controlling population. To undertake the delimitation, the government must conduct the decadal Census, which has been indefinitely postponed since 2021 because of the Covid-19 pandemic.

Speaking to TNIE, senior Congress leader MP Manickam Tagore said the linkage with delimitation could delay the implementation of women's reservation, adding the BJP is planning it for 2034. "The entire Opposition voted for the passage of the bill and we want it to be immediately implemented. But the government's real intention is to delay it," he said.

A TDP leader, on the condition of anonymity, told this paper that the party will not support delimitation as the state will lose Lok Sabha seats.

Echoing the view, noted economist and former chief statistician Pronab Sen told this paper that the women's quota will get stuck because delimitation and census have been written into the bill. "Why should the implementation of the Women's bill be connected to delimitation? The government will face opposition from Southern states as well as from Maharashtra and Gujarat," said Sen, adding it can delink quota from the delimitation provision by amending the bill.

'Heavens won't fall in 4-5 days': HC directs CID not to arrest, detain BSY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE High Court of Karnataka on Friday directed the Criminal Investigation Department (CID) not to arrest or detain former chief minister and senior BJP leader BS Yediyurappa in the POCSO case. The court, however, directed Yediyurappa to appear before the CID officers on June 17.

Orally observing that the manner in which CID is conducting the probe raises doubts, the court said if the accused is an unscrupulous person, he would not have appeared before the investigating officers in response to the first notice. What heavens are going to fall down in 4 to 5 days? The former CM himself has stated in his reply to the second notice that he will appear before the CID on June 17, the court said and questioned the Advocate General (AG) what will happen to a layman if a former CM is treated in such a manner.

Keeping on hold the coercive proceedings of arrest or detention in the case, Justice Krishna S Dixit passed the interim order, directing Yediyurappa to appear before the CID on June 17 as stated in his reply to the second notice.

The CID is probing the case registered by Sadashivanagar police under Section 8 of the POCSO Act and Section 354A of the IPC based on a complaint filed on March 14, 2024, by the mother of a 17-year-old girl alleging that Yediyurappa sexually assaulted her daughter on February 2, 2024, at his Dollars Colony residence in Bengaluru.

UNDER the supervision of DCP (West) S Girish and guidance of Additional Commissioner of Police Satheesh Kumar, the Vijaynagar sub-division police are building a watertight case against actor Darshan and other accused in the Renukaswamy abduction and murder case.

City Police Commissioner B Dayananda is regularly monitoring the investigations on the instructions from Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara.

On Friday, Dayananda visited the Annapoorneshwari Nagar police station where the accused are being interrogated. He has instructed the investigating officers to build a strong case, giving no scope for the accused to defend themselves during the trial.

With only three days of police custody of the accused left, the officers are grilling the accused round-the-clock, giving them little time to rest. Darshan is said to have been a hard nut to crack. He claims that he knows nothing about the murder, according to sources.

CBI probe: SC notice to NTA, Centre

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday sought responses from the National Testing Agency (NTA) and the Centre on a plea seeking CBI investigation into allegations of question paper leak and other irregularities in the NEET-UG exam held across the country on May 5 this year.

A two-judge vacation bench of justices Vikram Nath and Sandeep Mehta sought the responses within two weeks and tagged the cases with other petitions raising similar issues. The batch of pleas will now be heard on July 8, when the top court will start functioning after the summer vacation.

The development comes a day after the NTA and the Centre told the SC that the grace marks given to 1,563 candidates in the NEET-UG exam will be cancelled. They will have the option to either take a re-test on June 23 or forgo the compensatory marks awarded for the loss of time, the court was told. The petitioners alleged cheating happened in the medical entrance exam. "Cheating in entrance exams undermines the principles of meritocracy and equal opportunities which are essential for fostering social mobility and ensuring fairness in society," the plea said. Responding to the submission for ordering a CBI probe, the bench said the reply of the NTA was necessary before an order could be passed. As many as 67 students had scored a perfect 720 in the test in which 24 lakh students appeared, with six from a centre in Faridabad, raising suspicions about irregularities.

Woman files cheating case against MoS Somanna's son

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 40-year-old woman filed a cheating and assault case against Dr BS Arun Somanna, son of Union Minister of State for Railways and Jal Shakti V Somanna and two others at Sanjay Nagar police station on Wednesday.

The police have registered an FIR on a direction from the 37th Additional Chief Metropolitan Magistrate court, where the woman filed a private complaint. The complainant, Trupthi, a resident of Sanjay Nagar, stated that she and her husband Madhwaraj own an event management company. Arun met her husband at a government function in 2013 and asked him to organise a function to celebrate his daughter's birthday in 2017. Arun allegedly proposed to start a venture in partnership with Madhwaraj and in 2019, they started a company, Neighbourhood.

When the company started incurring losses, Arun blamed Madhwaraj for the losses. He later forced Madhwaraj to resign and reduced his share in the company. When the complainant and her husband questioned Arun, the latter allegedly threatened them. Arun even threatened to kidnap Madhwaraj's children and abused him in filthy language. He also allegedly assaulted Madhwaraj with a stick at his office, Trupthi stated in her complaint. The complainant alleged that Arun started insisting Madhwaraj to pay him money. Unable to bear the harassment, Madhwaraj paid Rs 86 lakh. Arun also allegedly forced him to sign a Rs 65-lakh loan agreement. As the harassment continued, Madhwaraj tried to end his life.

Based on the complaint, the police have booked Arun, Jeevan Kumar of Dasarahalli and Pramod Rao of Hebbal.

DCM to look at Cauvery 5th Stage project soon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE final testing of readiness of the Cauvery 5th Stage project is on. Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar will inspect the project site soon and take a decision on its inauguration, said Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) Chairman Ramprasath Manohar.

Addressing reporters here on Friday, Manohar said, "On the directions of the Deputy Chief Minister, work on the Cauvery 5th Stage is going on swiftly. The DCM is expected to inspect the project work, which is nearing completion, soon."

Manohar said because of the project readiness test, water supply in parts of the city was affected for a day. "Water supply was stopped due to the final testing of the project. Air got locked inside the pipes and that disrupted water supply in the city. The problem will be rectified in two days," he added.

60 MLD STP to be set up at HBR Layout

Energy Minister KJ George laid the foundation stone for a 60 MLD capacity Sewage Treatment Plant (STP) at HBR Layout on Friday. BWSSB Chairman Ramprasath Manohar was present.

BWSSB officials said low-lying areas in HBR Layout, Lingarajapuram, KG Halli and Kalyan Nagar get flooded whenever it rains heavily. Rainwater also enters houses in these areas. This project will help tackle the flood problem, they added.

PANEL TO OVERSEE AXING OF TREES FOR SUBURBAN RAIL

Average of 220 trees will be chopped for every kilometre of project

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH 32,572 trees to be felled for the 148-km Bengaluru Suburban Rail Project (BSRP), raising concerns among environmentalists, a committee comprising officials from BBMP and forest department, and environmental activists will be formed to oversee the tree cutting process.

N Manjula, Managing Director of Rail Infrastructure Development Company (Karnataka) Limited (K-RIDE), the implementing agency of the project, announced this during a public consultation meet held at MG Community Hall in the Railway Quarters on Friday. The meeting was held in connection with the environmental and social impact reports of the project which were released a few weeks ago. The meet, attended by over 200 members of the public, was chaired by MD Rajesh Kumar Singh, Director, Projects and Planning, and Prahlad Rao, BBMP Road Infrastructure chief, among others.

Manjula responded to a request by Rajkumar Dugar, founder and convener of Citizens for Citizens (C4C) group. Dugar, who submitted a petition over the proposed cutting of trees, said, "Bengaluru and surroundings will end up losing 32,572 trees, including 17,505 trees at Akkupete, near Devanahalli. This works out to an average of 220 trees per kilometre. Even if we consider trees only along corridors and not for Akkupete depot, the average figure of 102 trees per km is high."

Calling for an urgent and comprehensive review of trees which need to be cut and the alignment, he appealed for setting up an empowered committee to oversee the entire process.

KN Krishnaprasad, rail activist, stressed that suburban rail was required, and so was the protection of the environment. "32,000 trees is a huge number. Corridor-2 (Benniganahalli to Chikkabanavara) needs to be completed on priority, and its impact on the environment assessed. Only after that must we consider if such a large number of trees needs to be cut."

Environmentalist Dattatreya T Devarare reminded officials of the Centre's step in October 2020 to price the fare of suburban rail travel on par with the Metro. "Suburban travel must be cheap for public and should not be priced on the lines of Metro travel."

Manjula explained that the depot alone required 17,505 trees to be cut, of which 17,378 are acacia and nilgiris varieties."

After five years, relief for motorists as one lane of Kamaraj Road finally opens

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Vehicles ply on Kamaraj Road, after it was opened to traffic in one direction, after five years, in Bengaluru on Friday | VINOD KUMAR T

AFTER a five-year-long wait, it was a relief for motorists on Friday as the 220-metre Kamaraj Road, connecting MG Road and Cubbon Road, was opened for traffic in one direction. It was closed by the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL) in June 2019 to build the MG Road Underground Station of the Pink Line (Nagawara to Kalena Agrahara). After missing a few deadlines, the Metro barricades were finally removed.

"We opened the road around 10.30 am on Friday. As of now, it will be a one-way road from MG Road towards Cubbon Road. Since some signalling equipment are yet to be installed, we presently have cops manning the junction to ensure smooth traffic flow. The one-way system will be in place until BMRCL completes its work on the other road too, which could take some time," DCP (Traffic West) Anita B Haddannavar told TNIE. It will relieve much congestion on MG Road and the public who want to visit Commercial Street need to take a roundabout at present, she added. Due to road closure, motorists who wished to head to Shivajinagar or Commercial Street had to go up to Anil Kumble Circle or Trinity Circle and take a turn, causing traffic congestion at those points on MG Road.

BMRCL Managing Director Maheshwar Rao confirmed the development. A senior BMRCL official said, "Only one half of the road has been restored by us now. Since permitting full traffic would cause congestion here, the traffic police have decided to make it a one-way road only. The remaining 12 metres will remain shut for 6-9 months as equipment have to be sent below in connection with completion of our underground station."

'Floating green islands' to give fresh lease of life to Ulsoor Lake ecosystem

Volunteers release floating wetlands, to enhance biodiversity and improve the ecosystem, at Ulsoor lake in Bengaluru on Friday | ALLEN EGENUSE J

RISHITA KHANNA @ Bengaluru

IN a bid to balance the lake ecosystem and filter dirty water, over 150 volunteers made about 25 floating wetlands from recyclable material at Ulsoor Lake. These floating wetlands, which serve as a tiny ecosystem for the lake, contain around nine saplings each that absorb nutrients and convert them into oxygen as they drift around the lake, enhancing its ecological health.

These small floating ecosystems are easy to manage, allowing for the trimming of dead plant matter. This prevents the accumulation of additional biomass in the waterway and keeps the plants younger, so they can absorb more nutrients from the water.

The floating wetlands are made using durable, non-toxic materials such as PVC pipes for the base and floats, with nine saplings planted within the structure's frame. These plants help absorb nutrients and potentially harmful elements from the water, while microorganisms on their roots break down.

Additionally, bacteria within the plants help degrade organic contaminants. The plants and their roots also offer a surface for beneficial microbes to grow, further enhancing the cleaning process. The initiative was taken up by EY Global Delivery Services (GDS), a strategic business solutions provider, in collaboration with Goodera, which hosts volunteering programmes and Vedanshi Foundation, an NGO working towards environmental sustainability.

Rumi Mallick Mitra, Director of CSR at EY-GDS, informed TNIE that instead of a traditional bamboo base, they opted for PVC because bamboo requires frequent chemical treatment to prevent rotting. These biological ecosystems provide a natural solution for cleaning polluted water bodies. Composed of plants, these wetlands help remove pollutants such as nitrogen, phosphorus, and toxins from freshwater. Additionally, the ecosystems also provide home to a variety of pollinators, insects, and birds, which further enhances biodiversity.

66KV UG cable line at HBR Lyt will power East Bengaluru

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE KPTCL on Friday commissioned a new 66KV underground cable line from HBR 220KV Station to Pottery Road 66KV Station at HBR 220KV Station, 4th Block, HBR Layout in the city.

This move is aimed at meeting the city's growing demand for energy, while addressing environmental and urban planning concerns. The cable line of 5.18km has been laid at a cost of Rs39.50 crore. It will provide uninterrupted power supply for industrial, commercial and residential purposes in and around Sarvagna Nagar, HBR Layout, Nagawara, Banaswadi, Kammanahalli, Kadugondanahalli, Lingarajapuram, Arabic College, Tannery Road, Davis Road, Pulakeshi Nagar, Cantonment Railway Station and surrounding areas. With this, the Pottery Road substation is armed with both primary and alternate sources, helping provide uninterrupted power supply.

"The project of UG cables will ensure energy savings of about 17.603 MU annually. The addition of a new 66KV UG cable line is a significant step towards enhancing power distribution infrastructure in Bengaluru. This will ensure more reliable and stable electricity supply to residential, commercial and industrial areas. Underground cables are less susceptible to weather-related damages, vandalism and external factors. This will also reduce the frequency of power interruptions," said Energy Department Minister K J George, inaugurating the scheme on Friday.

Schoolchildren to plant over 2 lakh saplings this year

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

HIGHLIGHTING the importance of enhancing the city's green cover, Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar on Friday informed that while last year, 52,000 tree saplings were planted by schoolchildren, this year, under the green protection programme, over 2 lakh saplings will be planted, for which an agreement has been signed with several schools.

Speaking at the Brand Bengaluru Greening Program, organised as part of the World Environment Day celebrations at Cubbon Park's Bal Bhavan, he said, "If you plant a tree, there will be more rain, and if it rains, there will be enough water."

The DyCM added that many voluntary organisations are working to preserve Bengaluru's green cover and the government will also support them. "A total sum of Rs 410 crore, with Rs 310 crore under various departments and Rs 100 crore under the 15th Finance Commission, have been earmarked for green conservation of Bengaluru," he said, adding that the students should take care of the plants they plant.

Lauding the achievement of a girl from a Bagalkot-based government school, who scored 625 out of 625 in the SSLC exam, Shivakumar said there should be no discrimination in terms of providing education and facilities, and hence, the government will construct 2,000 toilets in government schools in rural areas.

Shivakumar also reminded about the drought and heat that the state faced in the recent months, stating that more than 200 taluks had to face drought without rain. "There was water shortage in Bengaluru, but the situation was managed. We should be vigilant so that such situations do not happen again," Shivakumar said.

Long-distance contacts are important so, if you are travelling today you should be well in touch with your stars and, if you're not, go ahead and make plans for the future. Keep an eye on legal questions, by the way, for you don't want to overlook vital details while you have the chance.

LEO

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You really have a very remarkable mind, even though it often goes unnoticed by your less sensitive friends and family members. One of your major qualities is an ability to persuade other people that you are in the right. This is a gift you should now cultivate!

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
You have every right to feel proud of the way you have handled recent emotional upsets, but only if you have held back from accusing other people. There is no point in attributing blame in these situations, and it would be better to focus on finding reasonable solutions.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Now that the Moon is constructively aligned with your sign you can afford to be complacent - at least for a while. It's not just a matter of putting your feet up, though. Much to your credit, you may also take control of situations which other people just seem unwilling, or unable, to handle.

NOD FOR 10% FEE HIKE IN PVT UNAIDED TECHNICAL COLLEGES

Will be applicable to colleges of architecture, engineering for academic year 2024-25

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government on Friday approved a fee hike of 10% for professional courses in private unaided technical educational institutions.

This will be applicable to engineering and architecture colleges for the academic year 2024-25.

This decision was announced after Higher Education Minister Dr MC Sudhakar and Medical Education Minister Dr Sharan Prakash Patil had a meeting with the representatives of the Union of Private Educational Institutions. The union had sought a fee hike of 15% after the Congress government slashed it by 3% in 2023. Earlier, the Bommai government promised a 10% fee hike year on year for private institutions.

For the academic year 2023-2024, the fees for general merit seats in engineering and architecture colleges were capped at Rs 96,574 in Type-1 category based on the available infrastructure, and Rs 1,04,265 for Type-2 category institutes. With the 10% increase for this academic year, students seeking admission through the CET will have to pay Rs 1,06,231 for Type-1 category and Rs 1,14,691 for Type-2 category colleges.

For government colleges, the last fee hike was between 3 and 4% in 2021-2022. Sources in the higher education department said the chief minister will take a decision on the matter in the next few days.

No special treatment for Darshan: Dr G

Seers of various mutts protest against actor Darshan in Hassan on Friday

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru:

HOME Minister G Parameshwara has denied that state police is giving special treatment to actor Darshan and his associates, who were arrested in connection with a murder case. He said a tent was strung up across the walls and gate of Annapoorneshwari police station, where the accused were being questioned, to allow police to work freely. "We will ensure that the public does not face any inconvenience. Darshan is being treated like any other accused person," he said.

The media pointed out to the minister that closing roads near the police station was causing inconvenience and people were objecting to it. It was hindering mobility of vehicles and even ambulances, and people who wanted to enter the police station were not allowed to. Parameshwara said he would ask the department not to inconvenience people, but at the same time, allow police to work without any disturbance. He said it is not correct to say police gave biryani to the accused, and any other royal treatment. "I checked with them and they denied it. Nothing like that happened. Police are treating them like other accused."

Meanwhile, Deputy CM DK Shivakumar told reporters that there is no pressure on police or the government to put up a shamiana around the police station. "I got to know that media is causing inconvenience as they have set up cameras here round the clock, and police are finding it difficult to do their duty," he said, adding that there is no pressure by any political leaders in connection with the inquiry.

PURPORTED AUDIO CONVERSATION BETWEEN COP, ANOTHER PERSON VIRAL

An audio conversation apparently between a police officer, who is part of the investigation into Renukaswamy murder case, and another person has gone viral. In the audio, the police officer can be heard saying that Renukaswamy was brutally tortured by the accused, including some bouncers. "Instead of killing, the victim should have been warned. Even if the main accused moves the Supreme Court, getting bail in the case is very difficult. Darshan is very rude and if he is drunk he is uncontrollable," the police officer is heard telling the person. The officer is also heard saying, "The CCTV camera footage shows Darshan beating the victim. There is pressure on the police commissioner by influential persons not to arrest Darshan. Pavithra has been admitted to a hospital after Darshan assaulted her, and four accused have surrendered before the police."

SHAMIYANA AT POLICE STN: TEAM OF ADVOCATES FILES 3 RTI APPLICATIONS

Three RTI (Right to Information) applications were filed at the police station on Friday by a team of advocates-cum-RTI activists. The team sought a certified copy or order related to instructions to cover the station with tent cloth and the cost incurred, reasons and file notings for imposing Section 144, and copies of the CCTV camera footage of all cameras maintained by the police station from June 10 to see if free and fair investigations are being conducted. The team was led by advocate Sudha Katwa and Right To Information activist T Narasimha Murthy.

THE officers are now behind the Rs 20-lakh deal offered to the four accused by Deepak, who has also been arrested in the case. Deepak is a close associate of Darshan and is alleged to have given the money, asking the four accused to surrender claiming responsibility for the murder. Of the Rs 20-lakh deal, police have recovered Rs 10 lakh from two of the four accused.

No visitors are allowed to meet Darshan and others. The accused are being interrogated separately, sources said and claimed that the investigating officers have got some crucial witnesses in the case. Witnesses' statements during the trial are key for conviction. Measures have been taken to ensure that the witnesses do not turn hostile during trial. The statements made by the accused are being videographed, the sources added. With technical evidence playing a big role in the case, call records, CCTV camera footage, CDRs and tower location details have been collected and mobile phones of the accused seized. Pavithra is being interrogated by a team of women police officers.

HC TAKES SUO MOTU COGNISANCE OF UNNATURAL DEATH OF ELEPHANTS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

INITIATING suo motu public interest litigation over the unnatural death of elephants, including the recent death of Dasara elephant, Ashwathama, owing to electrocution, the Karnataka High Court on Friday sought a response from the Union and State governments on the measures taken to ensure the safety and protection of the jumbos and other wildlife.

A division bench of Chief Justice N V Anjaria and Justice K V Aravind passed the order after taking suo motu cognisance of media reports on the recent unnatural death of elephants.

"The successive and repeated incidents of the death of elephants in Karnataka in different areas due to electrocution or for other unnatural causes is a serious matter to worry. The report of the media reflects that the incidents take place for want of diligence on the part of the authorities concerned in charge of ensuring safety measures for the elephants in particular, and the wildlife in general...," the court observed.

The court stated that whether inside the sanctuary or outside, the elephants and other wildlife would need care. "Their safety is to be ensured at all costs by keeping the vigil and by taking appropriate measures. The forest and other authorities owe a statutory duty in this regard. Their exposure to electrocution or to other unnatural causes of death has to be prevented. The elephants and wildlife have the right to live in a safe environment, not to die an unnatural death, as they stand under statutory protection. This court invokes its power under Article 226 of the Constitution to suo motu registered Public Interest Petition," the court added.

The response was sought by the court on the five aspects such as what measures are presently taken for ensuring the safety and protection of elephants and other wildlife assets in the state, what are steps proposed to be taken in future, to prevent such instances of unnatural deaths, what is the statutory machinery activated by the authorities in this regard, what is the mechanism adopted and developed for the safety and safeguard of the elephants and other wildlife within the sanctuary area as well as outside the reserved area and lastly, in what way the authorities fix the liability of officers when such kind of deaths of elephants and wildlife occur.

The CM emphasised improving infrastructure in hostels, anganwadis, and residential schools in the region. Siddaramaiah said that it is the government's responsibility to get the necessary approvals from the finance department.

The CM said that the district ministers should review the progress once a month and send the report to the board. "District secretaries should also conduct progress review meetings. Officials should visit anganwadis, hostels, schools, and hospitals and inspect them," he said, adding that there is a need for coordination between the district ministers and the secretaries.

Siddaramaiah also said that they have promised Rs 5,000 crore each year in the election manifesto and in the budget. He directed the officials to prepare an action plan by July 15 to spend the grants.

Anganwadi staffers to get smartphones soon

Belagavi : At least 65,000 anganwadi workers and 3,000 anganwadi supervisors will soon be getting smartphones sponsored by the Department of Women and Child Welfare.

According to sources, the Karnataka government has already bought the phones by inviting tenders in wake of the announcement made in the state budget. Women and Child Development Minister Laxmi Hebbalkar has said that the phones would be distributed to the anganwadi workers at the earliest. The mobile phones given to the anganwadi workers in the state earlier were of substandard quality and that was why the workers complained about the ineffective functioning of the phones, said informed sources. "The workers were unable to feed the official date properly in the phones earlier. Now, the government has decided to give them Samsung mobiles which are of high quality," sources added. ENS

Union Minister of State V Somanna seeks blessings from Sri Siddalinga Swamiji of Siddaganga Mutt in Tumakuru on Friday

> In the federal system, we are all one family, whether it is Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Puducherry, or Kerala... There is nothing wrong with Tamil Nadu advocating its rights. But we should all live equally — V Somanna, Union MoS Railways and Jal Shakti

UNION Minister of State for Railways and Jal Shakti, V Somanna, said on Friday that he and Prime Minister Narendra Modi will never let down any state in inter-state river disputes and other issues.

Somanna was responding to apprehensions raised by a few in Tamil Nadu who had claimed that his appointment was an injustice to the state as inter-state water disputes remain between the two southern states.

Somanna, who hails from Karnataka, represents Tumakuru in the Lok Sabha.

Tamil Nadu Congress Committee had even passed a resolution against Somanna being made the Jal Shakti minister and farmers' associations there had condemned his appointment as Karnataka and Tamil Nadu had several water disputes between them.

"In the federal system, we are all one family, whether it is Tamil Nadu, Karnataka, Puducherry, or Kerala... There is nothing wrong with Tamil Nadu advocating for rights. But we should all live equally. The population of the country has increased, and the PM has a vision for the country and will not allow injustice to be meted out to any state," Somanna told The New Indian Express.

"I am alone... not a great man (to take unilateral decisions). All parties will sit together and resolve the issues. There are laws to deal with the disputes," he said.

Somanna, who had worked as a minister in the Janata Dal government in Karnataka between 1994 and 1999, recalled that when J Jayalalithaa was the CM of Tamil Nadu, the then Karnataka CM JH Patel and former PM HD Deve Gowda would negotiate with her over inter-state disputes.

During his maiden visit after becoming the Union Minister, Somanna went on a temple run by visiting over 10 religious institutions, including the Siddaganga Mutt.

'Protocol violation': Somanna takes DC, ZP CEO to task

Somanna took Tumakuru Deputy Commissioner Subha Kalyan and Zilla Panchayat CEO Prabhu G to task as they were not present with him during his visit to the district general hospital. The minister was in the hospital to meet the victims of the Chinnenahalli drinking water contamination incident. He turned red as no district officers, including DHO Dr Manjunath, were present. He called the DC and CEO over the phone and took them to task for violating official protocol.

The officials, however, maintained that they were in Koratagere to take part in a programme in which District Minister Dr G Parameshwara was present. They further said that they had visited Chinnenahalli.

Not ready to accept the excuses, Somanna asserted that he too was a minister and the protocol should have been followed.

Cong govt politicising case against BSY, says BJP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Belagavi, Hubballi

THE newly elected MP from Belagavi, Jagadish Shettar, and Union Minister for Food, Public Distribution, and Consumer Affairs, and Renewable Energy Pralhad Joshi, hit out at the State Government on Friday, saying it was targeting former CM BS Yediyurappa in the POCSO case for political reasons.

"The POCSO case against Yediyurappa was registered three months ago. But the Congress government is raking it up again now needlessly, and is indulging in politics," Shettar told reporters in Belagavi.

Shettar, a former CM, said that when the issue cropped up three months ago, Karnataka Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara had said that the woman complainant had lodged similar complaints against 40–50 people in the past and that she was mentally unstable. The State Government should stop indulging in politics merely to target a veteran politician like Yediyurappa, he added, adding that a conspiracy is being hatched against the former chief minister.

Shettar hit out at the State Government saying it was trying to divert people's attention by raising such issues to hide its failures. "The government is in a quandary ever since minister B Nagendra resigned over the ST Corporation row," he added. Shettar said the woman who lodged a complaint against Yediyurappa is no more, and the victim has not lodged an individual complaint.

Pralhad Joshi also alleged that the Siddaramaiah government was trying to arrest Yediyurappa just to divert the public's attention from the alleged irregularities in the Karnataka Valmiki Scheduled Tribes Development Corporation.

Speaking to reporters in Hubballi after becoming a cabinet minister in the Modi cabinet, Joshi said that the act of the State Government "proved its indulgence in politics of vengeance."

"Since the ST Corporation case is likely to embroil CM Siddaramaiah, the government has resorted to hate politics by initiating action against Yediyurappa," he said.

"Earlier, Home Minister G Parameshwara said that there is no truth in this case. Now the court has been requested to issue a non-bailable warrant, which means that the government itself is involved in this and is doing hate politics. If they think their act will crush the BJP and Yediyurappa, we will rise again," he added.

BSY not any Tom, Dick or Harry to flee: HC

The special court issued an arrest warrant against him on June 13. Senior counsel CV Nagesh submitted that the complaint against Yediyurappa was registered 45 days after the alleged crime and there was no need for his arrest once the notice was issued under Section 41(A) of CrPC. The accused had already appeared before the CID in April when his voice samples were taken and statements recorded, he said. Then the court asked what was the need for the arrest warrant. AG Shashikiran Shetty, assisted by the additional state public prosecutor BN Jagadeesha, submitted that the accused booked a flight at 5.45 pm and flew to Delhi at 9.55 pm after he received a notice dated June 11 at 11.30 am. He is purposefully frustrating the investigating agency. If he did not return, it would be difficult to secure him for interrogation. Hence, the CID secured the arrest warrant, he argued. The court then observed that the accused is not some Tom, Dick or Harry. He is the former CM of the state and he will return after his Delhi visit. If custodial interrogation is required, the CID could have stated in its first or second notice issued to him, the court said.

HOME Minister Dr G Parameshwara on Friday said the non-bailable warrant issued against former chief minister and senior BJP leader BS Yediyurappa in the POCSO case has no political angle.

Dr Parameshwara told reporters that law will take its own course in the case. On BJP leaders' allegation that the ruling Congress is politicising it, he said, "What else can they do?" On why no action was taken for three months after the case was registered, Dr Parameshwara said the police were waiting for a report from the forensic science laboratory related to the case.

"The police have initiated action as per law. What has to be done is being done," he said.

On Congress MP Rahul Gandhi's allegation against Yediyurappa during his recent visit to Bengaluru, Dr Parameshwara said this is a state subject, why would he (Rahul) interfere. There is no pressure from anyone.

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar too has stated that the Congress does not believe in vendetta politics. "It is the BJP which believes in vendetta politics. It has filed a defamation case against Congress leaders, including Rahul. Congress leaders' protests were against BJP MLA Basangouda Patil Yatnal's remarks," Dr Parameshwara said.

HDK arrives to hero's welcome, slams Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

UNION Heavy Industries and Steel Minister HD Kumaraswamy arrived in Bengaluru on Friday to a rousing welcome and was virtually mobbed by party workers and supporters who stood in a long queue to felicitate him. Addressing party workers at the airport, he did not miss the chance to slam the Congress, claiming the party had hatched a conspiracy to finish off the Deve Gowda family politically. He said the party was also conspiring against BJP leader BS Yediyurappa by foisting a POCSO case on him.

On his first visit to the state as Union minister, his target was DCM DK Shivakumar. "Shivu ji, I am now a Union minister. I will not stoop down to your level," he mocked. "After I became Union minister, some people are not able to sleep, some people have lost their appetite. I, for one, don't hate anyone."

He arrived at Sadahalli Gate toll plaza and was welcomed by party workers with huge garlands of apples and flowers, and later drove to the party office where JDS city unit president H M Ramesh Gowda welcomed everyone.

Asked about the Darshan case and shamiyana being put outside the police station, he said, "I have never seen such a case before. If this government has any respect, let it be corrected," he said.

Earlier at the airport, Kumaraswamy was welcomed by JDs leaders. He drove a short distance where a group of 5,000-6,000 JDS supporters and workers had gathered at a clearing near Sadahalli Gate toll plaza, chanting slogans and hailing him. He then drove to the JDS office where a massive stage was put up, and a crowd of about 2,000-3,000 people, comprising party members and workers, greeted him individually. From there, Kumaraswamy left to visit his parents HD Deve Gowda and Chennamma and seek their blessings. He then visited his own house where wife Anita welcomed him with mangalarathi. Post lunch, he met some visitors and left for Tirupati by road on Friday evening.

He is expected to visit Speaker UT Khader on Saturday afternoon to tender his resignation as MLA from Channapatna.

SEX SCANDAL CASE

HC expresses concern over circulation of videos of women

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday observed what would be the state of women in society, the right to privacy and the autonomy of women, if the video clips of sexual assaults allegedly involving former MP Prajwal Revanna circulated through pendrives are proved false.

Justice Krishna S Dixit made this observation while expressing concern during the hearing of the anticipatory bail petition filed by Bhavani Revanna, mother of the accused, former MP Prajwal Revanna, who has been booked for alleged sexual assaults. Senior counsel CV Nagesh, representing Bhavani, argued that around 5 lakh pendrives were distributed house to house. Then the court observed that they should know the consequences of the distribution of pendrives. If all those clips are fake, what will the women (victims) do, the court asked. Special Public Prosecutor Prof Ravivarma Kumar, assisted by Additional State Public Prosecutor B N Jagadeesha, argued that Bhavani is not cooperating with the investigation as a condition imposed while granting her interim anticipatory bail. She is giving evasive answers to questions asked by the Special Investigation Team (SIT) though she was monitoring the entire episode of the kidnap of a victim of a sexual assault and hence the interim anticipatory bail should be cancelled, he argued.

He also argued that hundreds of women have been sexually assaulted by Prajwal. His mother was hand in glove with him instead of questioning him, taking him to task and preventing him from raping and videographing, he argued while praying the court to look into the documents produced before it in a sealed cover and cancel the interim anticipatory bail.

The court then observed that parents have no control over the child after he attains the majority. "Also, show us why you (SIT) need custodial interrogation of the married lady," the court asked.

Then the SPP submitted that the manner of investigation is the prerogative of the investigating agency and probe cannot be interrupted and the function of the court starts after the filing of the chargesheet. The court replied that then nobody would be safe tomorrow at the hands of the state if the court acceded to a line request of the investigation agency to hand over the accused for custodial interrogation and it will be Idi Amin's jurisprudence, the Ugandan dictator.

Meanwhile, SPP submitted that the accused had appeared for probe for three days but misled the investigating agency and hence they want her custodial interrogation as they have to complete the probe within the stipulated period.

After the arguments, the court reserved the order and extended the interim anticipatory bail granted to Bhavani with conditions till the pronouncement of the order.

BODIES OF KUWAIT FIRE VICTIMS REACH HOME

Officials pay respect to the mortal remains of victims of the Kuwait building fire, at Kochi airport on Friday | A SANESH

A father who lost his son, a man mourning the death of his brother, a group of youngsters waiting to receive the body of their dearest friend, and a woman holding a newborn breaking into tears, looking lost. Close by, another group discussing funeral arrangements back home somewhere in north Kerala.

The Kochi airport turned into a huge gathering of mourners on Friday as hundreds of people from across Kerala converged at the airport terminal to receive the mortal remains of the expatriates who died in the Kuwait building fire. The special Indian Air Force aircraft carrying the mortal remains of the 45 Indians landed at the airport around 10.25am.

Thirty-one bodies -- 23 Keralites, seven Tamils, and a Kannadiga – were brought out of the aircraft even as 30 ambulances were lined up outside the cargo terminal to take them to various destinations.

Tables with white clothes were arranged with names and photographs of the deceased printed over them -- the airport terminal resembled a huge funeral ground with thousands in attendance, from Chief Minister Pinarayi Vijayan to Union Minister Suresh Gopi and most of the state cabinet ministers.

A resident of Keezhvaipur in Pathanamthitta, Babu was inconsolable as he waited at the airport to receive the body of his son, Cibin Abraham, 32. This is the third death in the family in recent months. He lost his wife Alice to cancer a few months ago while his mother-in-law passed away in January.

Cibin was working in the same company where Babu worked for 18 years before returning home in 2022.

He had gone back to Kuwait in February after the baptism of his daughter, Irene. He leaves behind wife Anjumol, with whom he had spoken over the phone around 30 minutes before the fire broke out in the building that housed the labour camp on Wednesday.

A large number of people, including a priest from his church and other parishioners, were present at the airport to receive Cibin's body.

"The body of Karnataka native, Vijayakumar Prasanna, was flown to Hyderabad in another flight, from where the mortal remains were taken to his native place Kalaburagi by 8.50pm," said Ernakulam district collector N S K Umesh.

Chandrayaan-1 mission director passes away at 71

PURAN CHOUDHARY @Bengaluru

FORMER Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) scientist and Mission Director for India's first deep space mission–Chandrayaan-1, Srinivas Hedge (71) passed away on Friday noon, at a private hospital in the presence of his family and friends.

Chandrayaan-1, the space mission headed by Hegde played a crucial role in the discovery of water molecules on the Moon surface.

Hegde was reeling with health complications for several years, and on Thursday evening he suffered a cardiac arrest. He was on a ventilator until Friday afternoon in a hospital in Jayanagar, Bengaluru.

He is remembered as jovial, helpful and a team player by many of his peers and juniors. Hedge had joined ISRO in 1978 and served the space agency for over 36 years before retiring in 2014. During his tenure, Hedge was part of many ISRO missions under the UR Rao Satellite Centre (URSC) formerly known as ISRO Satellite Centre (ISAC).

With an undergraduate degree in B.Tech from the National Institute of Technology Karnataka (NITK), Surathkal, Hedge pursued his postgraduate from IISc in Bengaluru.

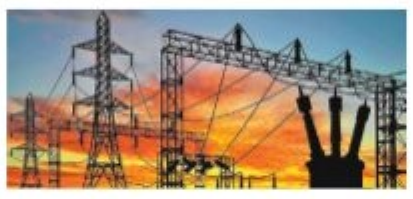
The scientist was skilled in the planning, analysis and operation section of the space agency. As the missions took off, Hedge, along with his team, focused on the determination of orbits and made sure the launched spacecrafts and satellites reached their designated orbits under the mission planning division.

Speaking to TNIE, M Annadurai, former ISRO scientist and URSC Director and Project Director for Chandrayaan-1 said, "As my senior and boss, I very fondly remember how he handheld me in my initial days at ISRO. I looked up to him, and over time, we became colleagues and remained close friends post our retirement too." He added that Hedge was also part of the initial planning of the TeamIndus group that planned to create a low-cost spacecraft to land on the moon's surface, but due to logistical reasons it never took off.

Recalling a personal incident, Annadurai mentioned how one day when he had collapsed in the gym while lifting weights, Hedge had rushed to the spot to help him. "He took me to his home and made sure I had the right care, and didn't allow me to leave until my leg was better, such was his nature."

Power demand on the rise, but dept hamstrung by lack of funds

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru



WITH demand for power on the rise, more so with the Gruha Jyothi scheme and stress on decentralised renewable energy, strengthening infrastructure is a challenge.

More than getting finances to undertake projects, meeting the Central government target of renewable energy generation has become a challenge, said sources in the energy department.

According to an official who did not want to be named, Central and state governments are stressing on enhancing renewable energy sources, especially solar, and continuous supply and storage is the challenge. The other challenge is round-the-clock supply of power.

"To improve infrastructure and grid connectivity, a plan was chalked out and discussions held with Asian Development Bank for a loan of Rs 10,000 crore. But this was not accepted by the government. Our counterparts in the finance department said the government needs money for guarantee schemes. With no assurance from the government on loan recovery, the plan was shelved," the official said.

However, to implement various central and state government schemes on solar power supply to farmers and residents, public-private partnerships are being looked at by decentralising generation and supply. Multiple PPPs will be signed, the official added.

As on June 14, total power generation in the state is 8086MW, of which 2491MW is from non-conventional power sources.

While Karnataka was unable to take the opportunity to install solar enabled irrigation pump sets for farmers and set up feeders, Maharashtra did it in March, before MCC was imposed.

"With the help of ADB's financial assistance, generation of 50MW power and production of Made In India solar panels has started," a Maharashtra energy department official said. "Maharashtra has now taken the lead in renewable energy generation, while Karnataka was the first to have a policy and solar power generation plant in Pavagada. Since 2017, power capacity in Karnataka has not enhanced. No power purchase agreements were signed. The drought, power demand has shot up, making us realise the shortfalls in infrastructure. Strengthening or correcting it has become worrisome. Funding is a concern due to which we are unable to meet central government targets," the official added.

HEED MESSAGING BY TERRORISTS TARGETING JAMMU, ENGAGE LOCALS

TERROR has resurged in Jammu & Kashmir, albeit with a difference. On June 9, terrorists fired upon a bus in Reasi, resulting in the death of at least nine people and injuries to 33. Soon after, terrorists also struck in Kathua and Doda districts, leaving seven security personnel and others injured. The timing of the first attack was unmistakeable—right when Narendra Modi was taking oath as prime minister for a third consecutive term. And so was the messaging—challenging the narrative of normalcy in the Union territory. The Reasi attack was the first of its kind on pilgrims, as was the area. Jammu has not been a hot-bed of terror activities. The push from the other side of the LoC is seemingly to turn it into one. The attacks in Kathua and Doda confirm the ploy and planning.

Foreign terrorists have infiltrated through Kathua, Rajouri and Poonch in the past. They would often use these areas as transits to get to Kashmir, but terror incidents in Jammu were minimal. The old infiltration routes are being used again, this time for direct attacks. These are freshly-arrived terrorists. Their focus seems to have shifted from the Kashmir valley to Jammu, where the forces are relatively thinly spread. Attacks in Jammu rattle the sense of security in this Hindu-dominated region where the BJP has won both the Lok Sabha seats. With impending assembly elections in the Union territory, the objective is to disturb the populace and challenge the normalcy that has returned after the abrogation of Article 370.

There is no appetite for an uprising in J&K post August 2019. But it is important to heed the terrorists' messaging and act timely and aptly. Prime Minister Modi, while reviewing security in the region, emphasised deployment of the "full spectrum" of anti-terror capabilities. The government needs to take a focused approach and neutralise these terrorists on the Indian side, identify their local support, sort out the shortfalls, gain the confidence of locals, and win them over. A common command among the multiple security forces in J&K can be worked out for smooth counter-terrorism operations and greater accountability. If Pakistan pushes the envelope, the ceasefire can go up in flames. And villagers on either side will bear the brunt.

RENDER ARSENIC-LADEN WATER SAFE WITH SCIENCE

THE Indian Institute of Science in Bengaluru has developed a three-step remediation process to render groundwater-based arsenic harmless. Arsenic has severe health implications, but the latest development can effectively reduce its toxicity to harmless levels and ensure people's safety. According to a 2023 report from the Central Ground Water Board on shallow aquifers, 113 districts in 21 states of the country have groundwater with arsenic levels well above 0.01 mg per litre considered tolerable by the World Health Organization.

Arsenic is a semi-metal whose compounds are used in rat poison. But its almost ubiquitous presence in groundwater exposes unsuspecting people to its adverse effects. Its prolonged consumption is known to cause severe health issues such as lung, skin, kidney and bladder cancers; coronary diseases; bronchiectasis (a chronic lung condition featuring infection-induced widening and thickening of bronchi or airways); hyperkeratosis (increased thickness of the stratum corneum, the outer layer of the skin); and arsenicosis, which involves a chronic condition arising from the ingestion of arsenic for six months featuring skin lesions that may affect internal organs. In many cases, only the disease is visible and diagnosed, not the cause, which is arsenic. The problem is more acute in the lowlands of West Bengal, Bihar and Uttar Pradesh, particularly in the Ganga-Meghna-Brahmaputra region where around 60 lakh people remain exposed to arsenic concentrations in groundwater above 50 parts per million.

The three-step remediation method by IISc's Centre for Sustainable Technologies involves an adsorbent bed grabbing toxic inorganic arsenic through electrostatic forces and complexformation between arsenic and the adsorbent; the alkaline wash solution of sodium hydroxide and arsenic in water being taken to a membrane system to separate the two; and toxic inorganic arsenic converted to low-toxicity organic arsenic by adding methyl molecules using microbes in cow dung.

Arsenic poisoning occurs when ingested at high levels and is similar to poisoning by heavy metals like lead or mercury. The ill-effects of long-term exposure to arsenic in groundwater are prevalent across India. Inner Voice Foundation, which works to address the issue, says about 10 lakh people have died from arsenic in drinking water over the last three decades. It is time the health authorities at the Centre and in the states fall back on reliable technologies to address the problem and save lives.

QUICK TAKE

FROM DOLLAR TO DIGITAL

SAUDI Arabia recently joined a central banks' test platform for trading in digital currencies. More than 130 countries including India are exploring digital currencies. What makes the move by Saudi Arabia to join the Switzerland-based Bank for International Settlements' mBridge project noteworthy is that more of the global oil trade can move to other currencies, continuing the years-long trend of de-dollarisation of global trade. In 2023, Nirmala Sitharaman told the IMF that moving towards digital currencies would be a natural progress. Now that she has retained her finance portfolio, we expect clarity from her and from our central bank on how the process will be rolled out.

Over centuries, taxes have been levied on things as peculiar as beards and windows. They teach us how people might react to one of the few certainties of life

UNEXPECTED LESSONS FROM ODD TAXES

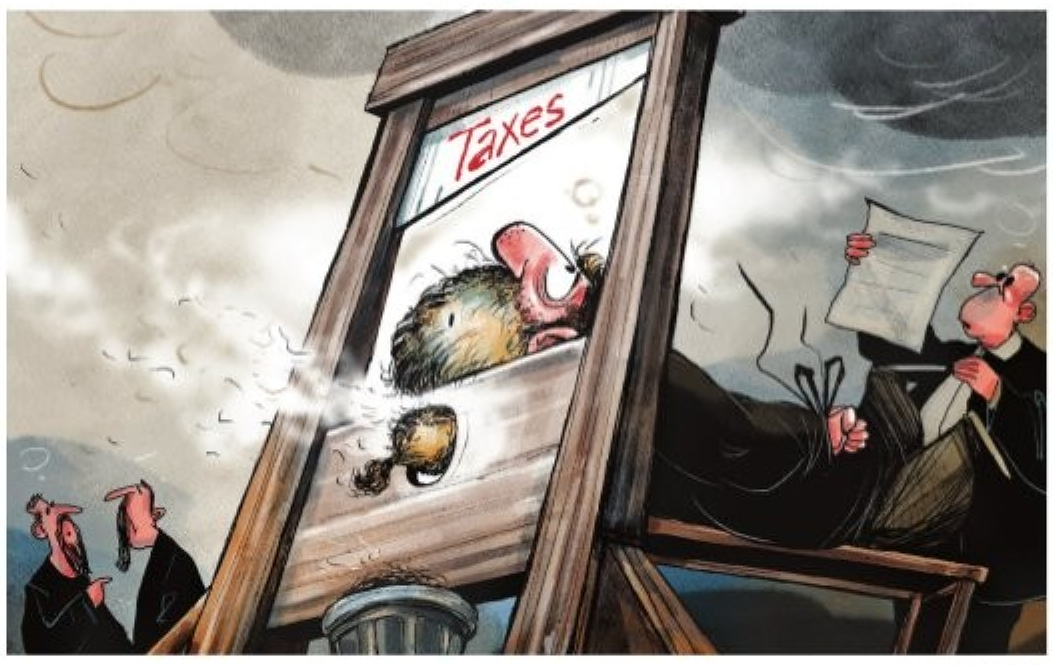
BIBEK DEBROY

Chairman, Economic Advisory Council to the Prime Minister

OUR new Constitution is now established, and has an appearance that promises permanency; but in this world nothing can be said to be certain, except death and taxes." The bit about death and taxes is a familiar quote and is usually attributed to Benjamin Franklin. Indeed, what I have cited is what Benjamin Franklin wrote in a letter to French physicist Jean-Baptiste Le Roy in 1789. The earliest use was probably by Christopher Bullock in a 1716 play. And there was Daniel Defoe in his 1726 book, The Political History of the Devil: "Things as certain as death and taxes can be more firmly believed." Despite advances in medical science, there is certainty about death. Despite our fond hopes to the contrary, there is inevitability about taxes. However, the form taxes take varies over time and space.

There have been taxes that seem bizarre. But that's because we are unfamiliar with the context. For example, there was a beard tax, usually identified with Peter the Great (1672-1725), the Russian Tsar. Why did he introduce this tax? There were multiple reasons. First, religion—the Russian Orthodox church—required men to wear beards. Peter the Great wanted Russia to modernise and become like Western Europe, where clean-shaven was the norm. He couldn't afford a ban, because religious beliefs would take umbrage. Hence, he used the disincentive of a tax on beards. Economists who argue against bans should approve. Peter the Great's common sense was in line with what we call nudge or behavioural economics today. Second, there was an equity motive. Wealthy merchants were charged more and poor farmers were charged less. Ignoring the fact that this was a tax on beards, this is precisely what we try to do through tax policies. Third, there was a revenue-cum-fiscal motive. Actually, the beard tax didn't bring in much revenue. Enforcement was an issue. (People had to carry beard tokens as evidence they had paid the tax. Who was going to check these?)

Delinked from beard taxes, when we think of fancy taxes, we do need to ponder about enforcement. Russia's beard tax was repealed by Catherine the Great (1762-1796). There are suggestions, with no evidence, that Henry VIII levied a beard tax too. But we do know Francis I (1515-1547) levied a beard tax in France, with revenue as the motive. This wasn't levied on the general populace, but only on priests. That must have made enforcement easier. Enforcement was also easier because this tax drew no distinction between which priest had the beard, the wealthy priest in court, or the poor village priest. It was regressive.



SOURAV ROY

But people also respond to taxes, a phenomenon policymakers often don't anticipate. There are contemporary reports that wealthy court priests continued to sport beards, while village priests shaved them off. At the other end, since religion required sporting beards, in 1936 Yemen (then North Yemen) imposed a tax on men who didn't have beards.

If a beard tax sounds odd, what about a urine tax that was imposed in Rome? This wasn't a tax on urinating, but on distribution of urine from public urinals that was used in different processes such as tanning leather and laundering clothes. In films and TV serials, we see Roman senators wear white togas. These became white through cleaning, which required ammonia, which came from urine.

In Rome, those who bought urine from public urinals paid a urine tax. This was first introduced by Nero, emperor from 54 CE to 68 CE. But we associate the idea more with Vespasian, emperor from 69 CE to 79 CE. According to accounts, Vespasian's son Titus complained. He found the idea repulsive and Vespasian retorted, "Pecunia non olet (Money does not smell)." The Latin expression has passed into English literature and occurs in multiple places. We owe the Titus anecdote to what Suetonius wrote about the lives of the twelve Caesars. However, translations of Suetonius in English don't seem to use the Latin expression. For example, "When Titus found fault with him for contriving a tax upon public conveniences, he held a piece of money from the first payment to his son's nose, asking whether its odour was offensive to him. When Titus said 'No,' he replied, 'Yet it comes from urine.'"

When I first visited England, I wondered why old houses were so dark. They possessed few windows. Indeed, England, Scotland and Wales had window taxes. Part of the reason behind such odd taxes was that income taxes were unpopular. They are of recent vintage. (When we hear people in India suggesting income taxes should be abolished, we should remember that the government requires revenue and we will have odd taxes instead. Abolition of income tax doesn't mean there will be no taxes.)

The window tax was based on the number of windows in a house. You could argue it was progressive. Larger houses, belonging to the wealthy, would have more windows. Window tax was introduced in England and Wales in 1696 and in Scotland in 1748. It was also easy to enforce. You could count the number of windows from the outside. Adam Smith mentioned it in The Wealth of Nations (1776). He didn't quite approve, pointing out that a relatively poor person in the countryside might have a larger house with more windows than a relatively rich person in a city. In other words, it might be regressive, not progressive.

I said earlier that policymakers don't always anticipate individual responses. As a reaction to the window tax, new houses had fewer windows. This explains why old houses were so dark. Alternatively, existing houses boarded up their windows. Roughly around 1850, the window tax was abolished. There is a belief, with no real evidence, that the expression 'daylight robbery' comes from the window tax. The window tax robbed people of daylight. The effect of the glass tax—introduced in Britain in 1746, abolished in 1845—was similar. Though imposed on all kinds of glass, it also applied to glass used in windows. Net result—fewer windows, smaller windows.

To quote from Lancet in 1845, "The deficiency of light in town habitations, in a great measure caused by the enormous cost of glass (because of the tax), is universally admitted to be one of the principal causes of the unhealthiness of cities."

YOGIS & JUNGLEE CRICKET IN THE LAND OF YAHOO

MADHAVAN NARAYANAN

Senior journalist

REVERSE SWING

WHEN you come to a fork in the road, take it." That's a memorable quote from American baseball player Yogi Berra, famous both as a sportsman and one whose sayings often made one laugh and think. The quote sounds like a stand-in for how one can eat a cake and have it too, but its origin lies in his instructions to a friend visiting his home. No matter which path you chose at the fork, you would end up at his house.

It's an appropriate metaphor to discuss the fascinating emergence of the US as a cricketing nation. The US team's upset victory over Pakistan in the ongoing T20 World Cup in the US and the Caribbean was led by Saurabh Netravalkar, who seems to have taken a fork of sorts in his life's journey. He is successful both as a techie and a cricketer—an ultimate contemporary Indian middle-class dream. A search on his name leads first to his Instagram handle, followed by his profile as an Oracle software engineer, and then reveals his cricketing credentials. Netravalkar played under-19 cricket for India, and this month, he played for his adopted homeland against India. Such is the circle of life.

But my story today is about the fascinating link between the US and India across spheres—politics, spirituality, technology and sports.

Yogi Berra was called 'Yogi' by a friend who used to see him sitting cross-legged in a pose that reminded him of an Indian yogi. Now, it is widely believed that baseball has its origins in rounders, a variant of cricket. English settlers in the US played the game that later evolved into baseball. The free-swinging baseball batter even gave the term 'pinch hitter' to the cricket lexicon, as the latter morphed into shorter, limited-over versions. The T20 version is almost like baseball in its combination of colourful outfits, cheerleaders and popcorn capitalism. It is as recognisable from the Ashes Tests as a giant, old IBM mainframe computer would be from the more powerful, hand-held iPhone.

The man who steered the iPhone at Apple, late Steve Jobs, was influenced by Paramhamsa Yogananda's book, Autobiography of a Yogi, a copy of which was handed to those attending Jobs's memorial service.

Fascinatingly, Yogananda, who was sent to the US by his guru Sri Yukteswar Giri as a kriya yoga evangelist, has a chapter in his book titled 'I go to America' in which he exclaims after seeing meditative visions of American faces: "Surely there is a karmic link between these two lands."

Two lands? You can make it three, if you want to make a triangle out of the US, India and Britain.

It is not very well known that the first commercially successful portable computer was made by British-born Adam Osborne. Born in Bangkok but raised partially in India, Osborne died in Tamil Nadu's hill station of Kodaikanal in 2003, well after the internet had arrived in India. All of his family members spoke fluent Tamil. His father Arthur was a teacher of Eastern philosophy and engaged with Ramana Maharishi's spiritual ashram. Osborne may not have guessed when he passed that one day, Microsoft, Google and IBM would all be run by people of Indian origin.

AP

We can weave a karmic link between cricket, technology and democracy across continents. It sparks off from the recent success of cricketer-and-techie of Indian origin, Saurabh Netravalkar, for his adopted homeland, the US. But it stretches back several centuries

There's even a Bollywood link to America's tech revolution. Born in 1994, one of the internet's earliest giants, Yahoo, is a tongue-in-cheek acronym for Yet Another Hierarchical Officious Oracle. But four IITians with memories of Shammi Kapoor singing "Yahoo!" in the 1963 movie Junglee did not let go of a chance. Anand Rajaraman, Venky Harinarayan, Rakesh Mathur and Ashish Gupta founded Junglee Corp, a provider of web-based technologies in 1996. Amazon acquired Junglee in 1998. Junglee co-founder Rakesh Mathur also started a Web 2.0 company called Purple Yogi, later renamed Stratify. Meanwhile, Shammi Kapoor became an early web evangelist and the founder-chairman of the Internet Users Club of India.

I prefer to call T20 the game's junglee version. It has too much yahoo-ing going on!

Perhaps this whole transcontinental dot-joining began with the use of zero as a mathematical symbol by ancient Indian mathematicians Aryabhatta and Brahmagupta, as it today forms the basis of the Boolean algebra at the heart of computer science. Indian cricketers, however, are not encouraged to score a duck because of this.

We can say with a degree of certainty that cricket, democracy and information technology have a reverse swinging relationship, though we may argue who gets the credit for starting it all. That works for politics as well.

There are those who would point out that the sabhas and samitis mentioned in our old texts showed some of the earliest representative exercises, or that the Mahajanapadas in the Bharat of yore were among of the world's first republics.

In the modern era, the first general election was held in Britain at the turn of the 17th century, while the US held its first presidential polls in late 18th century. And so on. There is a fourth, French angle to the democratic tangle. They say Tipu Sultan, who valiantly fought the East Indian Company, was inspired by the French Revolution in 1789, which in turn was inspired by the American Revolution against colonial rule in 1776.

Democracy, technology and cricket have an evolving karmic link. But their newer versions may be unrecognisable from the older ones.

Debate participation

Ref: For healthier debates in new House of people (Jun 14). While the author has expressed his desire for healthier debates in parliament, he fails to address the opposition's interest in 'walking out' rather than sitting and discussing. It has become prestigious for the opposition to showcase how many days they have disrupted the functioning of parliament. The author's views seem more threatening than advisory.

Rejuvenated opposition

The author nicely highlights how the BJP has been given a fright by wise voters. He is also poignant on how the previous Speaker had vehemently rejected every adjournment motion moved by the opposition. That is something common people have no knowledge of. This is the perfect time for the newer brigade of the Congress to work as a rejuvenated opposition.

Avoiding loans

It is true that Andhra Pradesh CM Chandrababu Naidu has to journey on a thorny and rocky path, and he has to come out with a good revenue plan. As the previous government depended on loans, the chances of further loans are bleak.

NEET roles

Adequate compensation

The tragic fire in Kuwait claimed the lives of 24 Keralites, prompting swift action from the Centre, which deployed a minister and team to coordinate relief efforts. However, travel clearance was denied to the Kerala health minister, as his role was deemed unnecessary. Both the central and Kerala governments should address the incident and ensure adequate compensation for the families of the deceased.

Introspection needed

It's high time former Andhra CM Jagan Mohan Reddy to introspect and take corrective measures to work on his party's drawbacks, instead of criticising the electioneering process. Welfare schemes alone can't satisfy the masses.

'More toppers due to syllabus cutback'

Union education minister says accountability of NTA will be fixed if any lapses are found

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @New Delhi

Concerns of students will be addressed with fairness and equity. Facts related to the NEET-UG examination are in cognisance of the Supreme Court. Counselling process of NEET-UG will be underway soon and it is of utmost importance to move ahead in this direction without any confusion

Dharmendra Pradhan, Education Minister

AMID a raging row on the NEET-UG exam, Union Education Minister Dharmendra Pradhan on Friday said the government will not tolerate any malpractices or irregularities in the conduct of exams and accountability of the National Testing Agency (NTA) will be fixed if lapses are found.

Denying any malpractice or irregularities in the medical examination, he said, "Every aspect is being looked into and accountability will be defined and depending on the nature of lapse action will be taken."

"The government is committed to protecting the interests of the examinees. Concerns of students will be addressed with fairness and equity. Facts related to the NEET-UG examination are in cognisance of the Supreme Court. Counselling process of NEET-UG will be underway soon and it is of utmost importance to move ahead in this direction without any confusion," he added.

Explaining the rationale behind the rise in the number of toppers and cut-off marks this year, the minister said the syllabus for NEET-UG was reduced as per the syllabus rationalised by NCERT.

"In previous years, the NEET syllabus wasn't cut down. This year we also aligned the questions with the state boards' syllabus. Less syllabus and more candidates also led to the rise in competition and ultimately increase in the number of top scorers," he said.

He also met some NEET-UG aspirants and their parents on Friday and addressed their issues.

Pradhan reiterated that there is no concrete proof to establish the allegations of question paper leaks in this year's NEET-UG exam. He also ruled out the necessity to scrap NEET-UG.

"Certain allegations and loose information are coming in. Let us wait for the probe by the authorities concerned. Let's wait till July 8 for the Supreme Court's judgment. There's nothing to hide," he said. Pradhan's comments followed an all-out attack from all fronts — students, parents, educators, and even the opposition over alleged irregularities in NEET-UG results that were announced on June 4, the day Lok Sabha results were announced.

Reacting to Congress's attack on the Prime Minister's silence on the matter, Pradhan — who took charge of the ministry on Thursday for the second consecutive term — said, "They have just lost the elections and are now looking for a new issue. We have the facts and misleading students and the public based on lies is not right."

He said NEET-UG was held at over 4,500 centres and incorrect question distribution was reported from just six of them. "Just because of the six centers, we can't question the sanctity and credibility of the entire system…," he said.

Asked if the government will take steps to bring some reforms in the way NTA conducts entrance, Pradhan said, "NTA is a competent agency. However, no institution is perfect and we work on bringing reforms continuously."

'Can't question sanctity of entire system'

Asked if the Centre will take steps to bring reforms in the way NTA conducts entrance, Dharmendra Pradhan said, "NTA is a competent agency. We work on bringing reforms continuously." He said NEET-UG was held in more than 4,500 centres and incorrect question distribution happened in only six. "We can't question the sanctity of the entire system based on only six centres," he said.

Another RSS leader speaks of 'ahankar' for BJP's poll debacle

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

Those who did 'bhakti' of Lord Ram gradually became 'ahankari' (arrogant). That party was declared the biggest party but was stopped at 241 by Lord Ram due to arrogance

Indresh Kumar, RSS leader

AMID speculation of a growing schism between the BJP and its ideological mentor, the Rashtriya Swayamsevak Sangh (RSS) following Lok Sabha election results, RSS leader Indresh Kumar has come down on the saffron party, albeit indirectly, on its recent election performance.

Indresh Kumar is the RSS executive member and the chief patron of the RSS affiliate Rashtriya Muslim Manch (RMM). At a function on Thursday in Rajasthan's Jaipur, Kumar attributed the BJP's dismal performances to 'ahankar' (arrogance). His remarks follow the recent statements of RSS chief Mohan Bhagwat and his colleague and columnist Ratan Sharda, who appeared unhappy with the BJP.

According to a report and a video clip that surfaced in the media on Friday, Indresh Kumar in an indirect reference to the BJP said, "Those who did 'bhakti' of Lord Ram gradually became 'ahankari'(arrogant). That party was declared the biggest party but was stopped at 241 by Lord Ram due to arrogance". His comment didn't spare the Opposition either. Without naming anyone, he referred to the "Opposition INDIA bloc" as "anti-Ram", indicating a perception that those opposed to the BJP are against the ideals associated with Lord Ram.

He went on to declare the INDIA bloc as 'anti-Ram'. "And, those, who had no faith in Ram, were also stopped together at 234," said Kumar at the event.

Kumar's taunt is not an isolated remark in the recent days. The buzz was that the Sangh did not fully come out in BJP's support despite the enormous strength of its cadres across the country.

At an RSS programme in Nagpur, Sangh chief Mohan Bhagwat emphasised the importance of humility in politics, saying "a true sevak (servant)" of the people should maintain dignity and refrain from boasting about one's accomplishments. Bhagwat said that a sevak must take pride in his work but remain "untouched" by admiration and be "devoid of arrogance."

A senior BJP leader said the widening gulf signalled a deeper ideological divide within the Hindu nationalists. "It must be stopped soon," he said, "If anyone in the Sangh has a suggestion, it must come through proper internal channel, instead of being aired in public."

The RSS has, however, distanced itself from Indresh Kumar's comments. It also denied that other leaders like Bhagwat has targeted the BJP or the government.

Meanwhile, sources hinted that an RSS-BJP coordination meeting is likely in Kerala between July 31 and August 2.

Rlys to install automated rain monitoring system on bullet train routes

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ New Delhi

AFTER technical consultation, the Railways has adopted an 'automated rainfall monitoring system' in move to ensure safety during the running of bullet trains amid the heavy rains.

"To ensure the safe operations of bullet train services, an automated rainfall monitoring system has been adopted. This system will provide real-time data on the rainfall using rain gauges, equipped with advanced instrumentation system," Railway Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said on Friday in a post on X.

According to railway sources, as part of the bullet train project spearheaded by the National High Speed Rail Corporation Limited, a dedicated track maintenance centre will oversee the data collected by rain gauges strategically positioned along the track. This data would swiftly be relayed to train traffic controllers, enabling them to promptly implement necessary protocols for adjusting train speeds as per weather conditions.

A senior railway official said the adoption this advanced technology-driven system has become the need of the hour considering the bullet train's expected speed of 320 km/hour. "With this, we would be able to have every minute detail to enhance utmost safety of passengers and the efficient functioning of the high-speed rail service amidst heavy rainfalls," the official said.

It is now officially claimed that the completion of the first phase, covering a 50-km stretch between Surat and Bilimora, is scheduled for August 2026.

Meanwhile, Vaishnaw on Friday chaired a meeting with members of Railway Board and senior officials via video conferencing to review safety measures, punctuality of trains and passenger services in trains and at stations.

Safety is paramount, says railway minister

Railway minister Ashwini Vaishnaw emphasised that "safety is paramount and there cannot be any compromise on this front". He asked officials to analyse the root cause of train detention on certain stretches, which impacts overall punctuality. "Unwarranted train detention is not acceptable," he said.

MHA plans to attach assets of terrorists' aides in Jammu

MUKESH RANJAN @New Delhi

REPRESENTATIONAL IMAGE

WITH the focus of terrorists shifting increasingly towards Jammu, the government has decided to confiscate properties of terrorists' supporters in the region. Till now, the practice was prevalent only in the Kashmir Valley.

According to sources privy to the information, the decision was taken following an intelligence report suggesting that Pakistan's ISI has worked out a 'Falcon 50 Plan' by roping in highly trained Lashkar-e-Taiba (LeT) and Jaish-e-Mohammad (JeM) terrorists to infiltrate and hit targets beyond the Kashmir Valley.

Following back-to-back terror attacks in the Jammu region, senior officials of the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) and security grid held a meeting on Friday. After deliberations, it was decided that properties of supporters of terrorists would be confiscated in Jammu as well, as a deterrent measure. Cases would also be registered against such persons under the stringent sections of IPC and the Unlawful Activities (Prevention) Act.

Directions have been issued to top officials of intelligence agencies and security forces operating in J&K to prepare a list of the supporters of terrorists in the region, they said.

Over the past few days, terrorist attacks took place across Reasi, Kathua and Doda, killing nine people, including seven pilgrims and a CRPF jawan, and leaving seven security personnel and others injured. Incidents of terror attacks in Jammu, below the Pir Panjal range, have gone up significantly.

According to intelligence sources, Pakistan's ISI has prepared the 'Falcon 50 Plan' to hit targets in Jammu. They said the dreaded LeT and JeM operatives are included in the group of 50 terrorists who have infiltrated into India through Jammu sector in the last few months. The ISI has specially trained these 50 operatives to launch sniper attacks. This is evident from the fact that in all the attacks in the past four days, the terrorists have hit their targets from a distance.

The reports of intelligence agencies suggests that they believe this group was formed when general elections were going on in the country and infiltration into India was gradually done. While their plans failed during that time, they are now launching sneaky attacks and targeting the security forces, sources said.

ISI's 'Falcon 50' has plans to strike beyond J&K

The terrorists infiltrating from among the 'Falcon 50' group mostly belong to Bahawalpur, Muzaffarabad, Quetta and Multan in Pakistan. After infiltrating Jammu and causing harm to the security forces, these terrorists plan to target other important places in the country, the sources said. Intelligence agencies also learnt that a large number of underground workers living in the border areas of Jammu region are helping the 'Falcon 50' group of terrorists and have given them shelter.

Jammu terror attacks: Forces' hunt for militants continues for fourth day

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

SECURITY forces on Friday continued search operations in four districts of Jammu region to track down militants involved in the recent terror attacks.

"Search operations are going in the forest area of Reasi and adjoining Arnas areas after the June 9 militant attack on a pilgrim bus at Kanda area of Pouni in Reasi district," a security official said.

Due to firing by the militants, the driver lost control and the bus fell into a gorge, killing nine people and injuring 43 others.

"The security men are using drones, helicopters and sniffer dogs to track down the movement of militants involved in the June 9 attack," said an official, adding that about 50 people have been detained for questioning.

"However, the hiding militants are yet to be traced. We suspect that 3-4 militants are on the run," the official said.

The army, police and CRPF personnel are also engaged in search operations in dense forests at two locations in Doda district after militant attacks in which seven security men were injured. "The search operation was launched on Thursday after locals suspected presence of two more militants after the killing of two militants in a village near Hira Nagar on June 12," a security official said.

The security men are also searching the Nowshera area of the border district of Rajouri after some locals noticed suspected movement of two militants a few days ago. "In all the places where operations are going on, no contact has been established with the militants. But search operations are going on," the security official said

Police have released the sketch of a militant involved in the attack on the bus in Reasi and announced a reward of ₹20 lakh for information about the militant.

Police have also released sketches of four militants involved in two attacks in Doda and announced a reward of ₹20 lakh on each for information leading to their arrest.

Navy emerging as new powerful force: Rajnath on visit to Eastern Command

MAYANK SINGH @New Delhi

Defence minister Rajnath Singh on his visit to Eastern Command on Friday | EXPRESS

AMID New Delhi's emphasis on the growing salience of the Indian Ocean Region (IOR) in the defence calculus, Defence Minister Rajnath Singh on Friday visited the Indian Navy's Eastern Naval Command (ENC). This was his first visit during his second tenure.

The ENC safeguards the country's interests in the geopolitically strategic eastern seaboard and beyond.

Rajnath emphasised that the focus will be on further strengthening maritime security and making the presence of India's naval power in IOR more effective and robust.

"The Indian Navy is continuously becoming stronger, given a growing industrial infrastructure. Our shipyards are expanding, aircraft carriers are increasing, and our Navy is emerging as a new powerful force. We will give momentum to our efforts in the second tenure as well. Be it the Himalayas or the Indian Ocean, our priority will be to continuously strengthen the security on our borders," he said.

Rajnath said the government's focus on land borders and maritime security has a broader vision -- to bind the northern and southern parts of the nation in one thread.

He said the government paid full attention to the Navy and maritime security.

Interacting with the officers and sailors of the Eastern Fleet, Rajnath commended the Navy for being operationally ready, and emerging as the first responder in the IOR. "Our Navy ensures that no nation suppresses another in the Indo-Pacific region or endangers its strategic autonomy on the basis of economic strength or military power," he said.

"This is in line with the PM's vision of security and growth for all wherein our friendly countries remain safe and move forward together on the path of mutual progress," he said.

Rajnath Singh credited the Indian Navy for playing a crucial role in the country's growth and raising its stature internationally. He made special mention of the Navy's daring rescue operation in the Arabian Sea in March 2024, when it freed 23 Pakistani nationals from Somali pirates.

ELGAR PARISHAD

SC seeks NIA's reply on activist's bail petition

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday asked the National Investigation Agency (NIA) to take instructions and file a reply on a plea filed by Mahesh Raut, an accused in the Elgar Parishad-Maoist links case, seeking interim bail to attend his grandmother's death rituals.

Senior advocate Mihir Desai, appearing for Raut, said it was an interim bail plea to go to Gadchiroli for the rituals.

A two-judge vacation bench of Justices Sanjay Kumar and Augustine George Masih, while seeking NIA's reply, posted further hearing on June 21.

The top court observed that since the funeral was already over on May 26, "so what ceremonies are left now to do?"

"You (Raut) have not given any details as to when they would be," the bench observed. Arrested by the NIA in June 2018, Raut(33) is lodged in Taloja prison, for his alleged "provocative and inflammatory speeches" in an event backed by banned outfit CPI (Maoist).

Elderly financially insecure, forced to do chores, take care of grandkids: Survey

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

A HelpAge India survey released on Friday revealed concerning trends among the elderly population in India. According to the survey, 61% of elders are occupied with caring for their grandchildren, while more than one-third engage in regular household tasks such as cooking and shopping.

Financial insecurity is prevalent among 65% of elders, with only 31% having access to health insurance through the government's PMJAY scheme; a mere 3% have commercial health insurance.

The survey highlighted elder abuse as a major issue, with 7% of respondents admitting to being victims, while 5% declined to respond, a silence that spoke volumes. The majority of abuse (42%) was from sons, followed by daughters-in-law (28%).

Furthermore, abuse was more pronounced among illiterate elders and correlated with lower income levels. Chronic diseases exacerbated their vulnerability; 94% of abused elders reported suffering from at least one non-communicable disease.

Despite these challenges, only a fraction of abused elders reported their plight to the police. The survey, titled 'Ageing in India: Exploring Preparedness and Response to Care Challenges', encompassed over 5,000 elderly and 1,000 primary caregivers across 20 Tier I and Tier II cities in 10 states.

Financial dependence was a recurring theme, affecting one in three elders who reported no income in the past year, with a higher proportion among women (38%) than men (27%). Illiteracy compounded these issues, as 40% of illiterate elders lacked access to income sources, compared to 29% literates.

Rohit Prasad, CEO of HelpAge India, emphasized the urgent need for a comprehensive Long Term Care framework tailored to the specific needs of vulnerable elderly segments.

Not Ajit factor, BJP's '400 paar' led to LS defeat, says Bhujbal

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER an RSS ideologue said that the alliance with the Ajit Pawar-led NCP was a factor behind the BJP's Lok Sabha poll setback in Maharashtra, NCP minister Chhagan Bhujbal on Friday said the deputy chief minister should not be made a scapegoat. "BJP lost badly in Uttar Pradesh also. How did it happen when Ajit Pawar was not there?" Bhujbal asked.

He attributed Mahayuti's loss to the BJP's 'Abki bar 400 paar' slogan. "Due to this slogan, Dalit and Muslim voters distanced themselves from Mahayuti. The Opposition peddled the 'change Constitution, end reservation' narrative, which damaged our poll prospects. Maharashtra CM Ekanth Shinde is also saying it," he said.

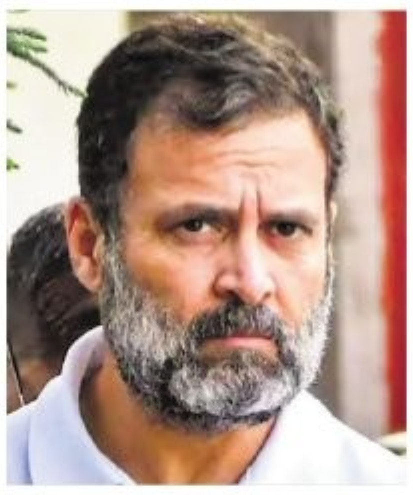
In a write-up in RSS mouthpiece Organiser, Sangh ideologue Ratan Sharda said the tie-up with the Ajit-led NCP diminished the "brand value" of the BJP, which led to the ruling alliance's poll drubbing. Ajit refused to comment on the article. NCP minister Hasan Mushriff said RSS-BJP should not put the blame on Ajit for the poll debacle. "By blaming each other will not solve the problem. Passing on the buck should not happen if we are in an alliance," Mushruff said.

Sharad Pawar-led NCP MLA Rohit Pawar said the blame game shows that the BJP wants to ditch Ajit ahead of state assembly elections. "There is a systematic campaign against Ajit Pawar by RSS-BJP and its eco system. BJP and Shinde-led Sena leaders were absent when Sunetra Pawar (Ajit's wife) filed her nomination for Rajya Sabha polls. It shows that BJP is trying to distance itself from Ajit," the MLA said.

Cong, SP to fight bypolls in alliance

UP prepares for another battle with 9 MLAs from the state elected to Lok Sabha

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow



AFTER the conclusion of the Lok Sabha election, Uttar Pradesh is preparing for another electoral battle with nine MLAs from the state reaching Parliament, necessitating bypoll in their respective assembly segments, setting the stage for another round of a bipolar NDA vs INDIA bloc contest in the state.

Buoyed by their performance in the recent polls, the Congress and the Samajwadi Party (SP) have hinted at continuing their alliance in the upcoming bypolls to nine assembly seats, of which four each have been vacated by the BJP and SP MLAs and one by the RLD MLA.

Though none of the two opposition partners have come out clearly on the seat-sharing as the Congress has no stakes in the bypoll, UPCC chief Ajai Rai confirmed that the tie-up would continue and that there could be seat-sharing discussions as well.

Notably, SP chief Akhilesh Yadav has quit Karhal assembly seat to retain the Kannauj Lok Sabha seat. The other seats that have fallen vacant as the sitting MLAs have been elected to Lok Sabha include Anoop Valmiki from Khair (Aligarh), Praveen Patel from Phulpur (Prayagraj), Atul Garg from Ghaziabad (Ghaziabad), Dr Vinod Bind from Majhawan (Mirzapur) of BJP. Similarly, besides Akhilesh Yadav from Karnal, other SP MLAs include Ziaur Rehman Barq from Kundarki (Moradabad), Lalji Verma from Katehari (Ambedkar Nagar), and Awadhesh Prasad from Milkipur (Faizabad).

Meanwhile, Chandan Chauhan of RLD from Meerapur (Muzaffarnagar) assembly seat has also vacated it as he has won from Bijnor Lok Sabha seat. While the Congress had not won any of these nine seats in 2022 UP assembly polls, it had contested Ghaziabad and Khair seats unsuccessfully under the SP-Cong pre-poll pact in 2017 assembly polls.

In 2024 LS polls also, the SP gave Ghaziabad Lok Sabha seat to the Congress but it lost.

As per a Congress source, the party may seek at least Khair and Ghaziabad seats from SP owing to its harmonious equation with the ally SP.

On the other hand, SP leadership also confirmed that the allies may have seat sharing discussions for the bypolls. At present SP has 107 MLAs in the Assembly and the ruling BJP has 252.

In Bihar too, parties gear up for 5 seats

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

JANATA Dal (United) led by Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar on Friday named Kaladhar Prasad Mandal as its candidate for the Rupauli assembly constituency in Purnea district, where bypolls will be held on July 10.

Rupauli assembly seat fell vacant after sitting JD(U) MLA Bima Bharti resigned from the party and contested Lok Sabha election from Purnia seat on the ticket of Lalu Prasad's RJD. She, however, lost to Independent candidate Rajesh Ranjan alias Pappu Yadav.

Bima Bharti has already announced she would not contest the bypoll from the seat. Her husband Awadhesh Mandal may fight as an Independent candidate. JD(U) state president Umesh Kushwaha said that people trusted CM Nitish in the 2020 assembly election and supported Bima Bharti.

Blame game on in BJP over internal sabotage

After dismal performance in the Lok Sabha election in Uttar Pradesh, the BJP leaders got into blame-game claiming "internal sabotage" behind some of the prominent faces such as former Union Minister Sanjeev Baliyan who lost his bastion of Muzaffarnagar in western region. Baliyan locked horns with Sangeet Som, the former BJP MLA from Sardhana, accusing him of colluding with rivals to ensure his defeat. Baliyan, a jat, also accused Sangeet Som of fomenting trouble in western UP by facilitating Rajput panchayats giving voice to Rajput unrest which not only hurt BJP prospects in Muzaffarnagar but also in Kairana and Saharanpur.

Dynasty politics: UP to get a new LoP

With SP chief Akhilesh Yadav relinquishing Karhal Assembly seat to retain Kannauj, the post of Leader of Opposition in UP assembly is vacant. Now, the main opposition SP is looking for a party leader who can be as vociferous as Akhilesh to further the SP agenda. The strongest name is that of SP MLA from Jaswantnagar and Akhilesh Yadav's uncle Shivpal Yadav, who has held the post earlier also. Akhilesh, in order to escape the allegation of dynasty politics, may opt for a leader who suits his PDA plank as well keeping the prospects of 2027 Assembly elections in mind.

Robbers who use booty for pilgrimage, bhandaras

Lucknow police nabbed three robbers, all in their early 20s, who used part of booty to fund their pilgrimages and to organize bhandaras (charity feasts). The lynchpin, Umesh Sahu, owned a small hardware shop while Rohit Kumar and Sumit Maurya assisted him. The police records said that the gang targeted two women and decamped with their belongings. They admitted to their crime claiming that they began to target people when they wanted to go on a pilgrimage but didn't have enough resources. "They wanted to go on a pilgrimage but lacked the funds. To fulfil that desire, they committed robberies," said the police.

Kshatriyas' ire: Rupala says 'no reason' for missing berth

DILIP SINGH KSHATRIYA
@ Ahmedabad

DAYS after being dropped from the Union cabinet, Rajkot BJP MP Parshottam Rupala on Friday said there are no specific reasons for him not being given a ministerial post.

Rupala, who had stirred a hornet's nest with his alleged derogatory comments on the Kshatriya community during the Gujarat Lok Sabha polls, made the statement during a media interaction – first after the oath taking ceremony of the Modi 3.0 cabinet.

"There are no specific reasons for giving or not giving a ministerial position; it is the prerogative of the party and the Prime Minister. Whatever decision they have taken is right," he said amid ongoing debates surrounding his removal due to the Kshatriya movement. "All the decisions made regarding my position, including this one, have been welcomed by me," he added.

In the wake of his alleged derogatory remarks, Rupala faced widespread protests from the community demanding his replacement as the Rajkot candidate. A seasoned politician with three terms in the Rajya Sabha, Rupala served in various ministerial roles.

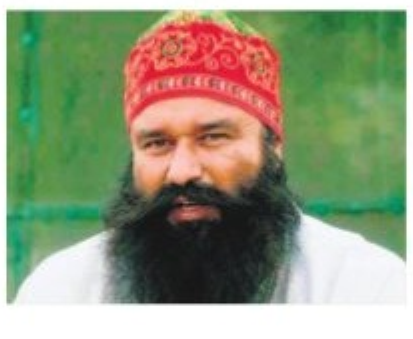
Dera chief moves HC seeking parole

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh



DERA Sacha Sauda chief and rape convict Gurmeet Ram Rahim Singh has approached the Punjab and Haryana High Court seeking directions for a 21-day furlough. In February, the HC instructed the Haryana Government not to grant further parole to Singh without its permission.

He approached the HC seeking a 21-day furlough, requesting directions to consider and decide on the application by the Haryana Good Conduct Prisoner (Temporary Release) Act, 2022. He mentioned that an earlier furlough application was made but has not been considered due to a stay order issued on February 29.

He is currently serving a 20-year jail term for raping two of his disciples and is lodged in Sunaria jail in Rohtak. The Dera chief was granted a 50-day parole on January 19.

Singh highlighted several welfare activities conducted by his sect, stating that his presence is necessary to motivate these efforts. In February, the High Court had directed the Haryana Government not to grant further parole to the Dera Sacha Sauda chief without its permission, during a hearing of a petition by the Shiromani Gurdwara Parbandhak Committee challenging the temporary release granted to him.

C'garh arson : Collector, SP suspended, judicial panel formed for probe

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

THE Vishnu Deo Sai government has established a one-member judicial commission to probe the vandalisation of the Satnami community's religious symbol 'Jaitkhamb' at Amar Gufa near Giroudpuri Dham in Baloda Bazar on May 15-16.

This incident has deeply angered the Satnami community, leading to a violent protest on June 10, during which a frenzied mob set fire to government buildings at the Baloda Bazar collectorate premises.

Responding to the gravity of the situation, the state government suspended Baloda Bazar collector KL Chouhan and district police chief Sadanand Kumar for alleged negligence in handling the crisis.

While Chauhan is a state cadre service officer who was awarded IAS in 2009, Kumar is a 2010-batch IPS officer. Both have been suspended with immediate effect.

Retired High Court judge Justice C.B. Bajpai will head the one-man judicial commission, tasked with submitting a report within three months. The commission's terms include investigating the vandalization, identifying reasons and responsible parties, examining related incidents, recommending preventive measures, and highlighting other pertinent issues.

Earlier, State Home Minister Vijay Sharma announced a judicial inquiry into the Jaitkhamb desecration by anti-social elements. However, the announcement did not pacify the Satnamis, a Scheduled Caste community in the state. Last Monday, during the violent protest, government buildings and public properties at the Baloda Bazar collectorate premises were set ablaze.

Meanwhile, the opposition Congress formed a seven-member fact-finding committee comprising senior party leaders, who visited Baloda Bazar on Friday.

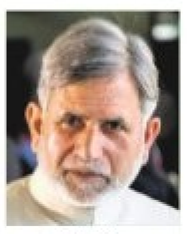
Punjab man, sole breadwinner of family, killed in Kuwait fire

Chandigarh: HIMAT Rai (62) from Salempur in Punjab's Hoshiarpur district, who was the sole breadwinner of his family, was among those killed in a fire at Al-Mangaf building in Kuwait. Hoshiarpur DC Komal Mittal said, "Officials and two relatives went to Delhi to receive Rai's body from the airport on Friday. Every assistance will be provided to Rai's family. His cremation will take place on Saturday." Rai was working as a foreman in a firm in Kuwait for last 30 years. He is survived by his wife Sarbjit Kaur, two daughters Amandeep Kaur (35) and Sumandeep Kaur (32), and 16-year-old son Arshdeep Singh.

DELHI L-G NOD TO PROSECUTE ARUNDHATI ROY UNDER UAPA

ASHISH SRIVASTAVA @ New Delhi

Arundhati Roy



Sheikh
Showkat Hussain

DELHI Lieutenant Governor V K Saxena on Friday gave his nod to prosecute author-activist Arundhati Roy and Sheikh Showkat Hussain, former professor of the Central University of Kashmir, under the stringent UAPA in connection with a 2010 FIR, which accused the duo of "delivering provocative speeches in public".

Roy and Hussain had allegedly called for an independent Kashmir at a conference organised under the banner of 'Azadi — The Only Way' on October 21, 2010 at LTG Auditorium in Delhi. The major topic of discussion was "separation of Kashmir from India", Raj Niwas officials said on Friday.

Last October, Saxena had granted prosecution of the duo in the same case under Section 196 of CrPC for commission of offences punishable under different sections of IPC.

The case against the two was registered after a police complaint lodged by a Kashmiri social activist Sushil Pandit. He also filed a complaint before the Court of Metropolitan Magistrate, Delhi.

An FIR was registered on November 29, 2010 in which Roy, Hussain, Kashmiri separatist leader Sayed Ali Shah Geelani, and former Delhi University professor Syed Abdul Rahman Geelani were booked for the offences of sedition, promoting enmity between different groups on ground of religion, race, place of birth, residence, language, etc with imputations, assertions prejudicial to national-integration. They were also charged with the act aimed at public mischief.

However, Sayed Ali Shah Geelani and Abdul Rahman Geelani passed away during the pendency of the case.

Tearful MP bids adieu to Assembly seat

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

THERE wasn't a dry eye in the room when Asom Gana Parishad (AGP) leader Phani Bhushan Choudhury tearfully resigned as an MLA on Friday. His tears did not stem from losing power, but from bidding adieu to his beloved Bongaigaon Assembly constituency in lower Assam after a tenure of more than 38 years.

Choudhury, who was elected to the Lok Sabha from Barpeta in the recent election, had to step down as MLA. Accompanied by AGP leaders and ministers Atul Bora and Keshab Mahanta, Choudhury submitted his resignation to Assembly Speaker Biswajit Daimary.

"Immediately after resigning, I questioned myself whether contesting the parliamentary elections was the right decision. I started my journey as an MLA in 1985, and today marks the end of that chapter. This day will be etched in my memory forever," he said.

Forest fires take a toll on popular tourist hotspots of Uttarakhand

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

FOREST fires in Uttarakhand have dealt a significant blow to the state's tourism, especially impacting popular destinations like Kausani, Almora, Binsar, and Kasar Devi. Nearly 60 percent of tourists have cancelled their bookings due to the devastating fire incidents in these picturesque locations, which are favoured by domestic travellers. However, despite these setbacks, the religious pilgrimage of Chardham Yatra remains unaffected by the reports of forest fires.

In the forests near Kausani, a fire broke out on Friday afternoon, engulfing the surrounding area in flames. Bablu Negi, President of the Kausani Hotel Association, expressed frustration over the delayed response from authorities despite alerts being raised promptly.

He mentioned that 60 percent of tourists from Lucknow and the NCR have opted to cancel their plans to visit Kausani, Baijnath, and Bageshwar, citing the uncertain situation caused by the fires.

Concerns over the impact of these incidents were echoed by Arun Verma, President of the Almora Hotel Association, who emphasised that the media coverage has further exacerbated the situation. He reported significant cancellations of bookings in popular spots like Kausani and Binsar, affecting tourists from Delhi, Maharashtra, Gujarat, and Kolkata.

Verma highlighted the urgent need for the Uttarakhand government to take decisive action to combat the recurring forest fires. He stressed the necessity of equipping mountainous districts with adequate firefighting manpower and helicopters, given the severity and frequency of these incidents each year.

Despite these challenges, the Chardham Yatra has continued to draw pilgrims undeterred, with over 23 lakh visitors embarking on their spiritual journey to the sacred shrines in just over a month.

G7 demands China play by rules

BARI

G7 leaders meeting in Italy on Friday hardened their tone against China, warning Beijing to stop sending weapons components to Russia and play by the rules on trade, according to a draft summit statement.

China has been a key focus of the Group of Seven talks in Puglia, amid souring trade relations between Beijing and the West and concerns that its supplies of equipment to Moscow are fuelling Russia's war in Ukraine. "We call on China to cease the transfer of dual-use materials, including weapons components and equipment, that are inputs for Russia's defence sector," according to a draft statement seen by AFP. The Group of Seven also took aim at what it called "dangerous" incursions by China in the contested South China Sea, where worries of a military escalation between Beijing and its neighbours are rising. "We oppose China's militarisation, and coercive and intimidation activities in the South China Sea," the statement read, using stronger language than at last year's summit in Japan. After a first day dominated by Ukraine, US President Joe Biden and the leaders of Japan, France, Germany, Canada, Britain and host country Italy turned their focus to the world's second-largest economy, a superpower whose oversized influence on geopolitics and global trade cannot be underestimated.

"G7 countries are on the same page vis-a-vis China," a Japanese government source told AFP. Thursday's talks, attended by Ukrainian President Volodymr Zelensky, were marked by a strong show of G7 support for Kyiv, with an agreement to use profits from frozen Russian assets to provide a new $50-billion loan to Ukraine. With the war in its third year, the G7 statement said the deal sent an "unmistakeable signal" to Russian President Vladimir Putin that they would back Kyiv for "as long as it takes".

Deteriorating global trade relations have been a backdrop to the summit, however, exemplified by the European Union's announcement this week of plans to impose new tariffs on Chinese electric vehicles. Beijing denounced what it called "naked protectionist behaviour" and said it reserved the right to file a suit with the World Trade Organization (WTO). The US, Japan and the EU—which attends G7 summits as an unofficial eighth partner—have all voiced concern over China's so-called "industrial overcapacity". They say generous subsidies by Beijing, particularly in green energy and technology sectors such as solar panels and electric vehicles, result in unfairly cheap goods flooding the global market. AFP

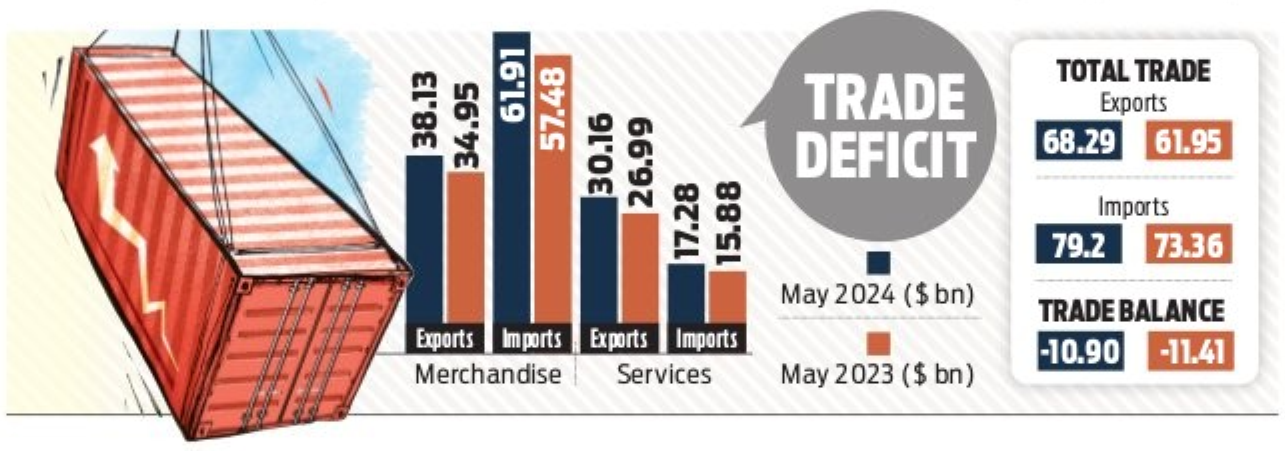
MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi



THE country's goods exports grew 9.1% to $38.13 billion in May, with double-digit growth witnessed in several sectors including engineering goods, electronics, drugs and pharmaceutical products, the government data showed on Friday.

Imports surged by 7.7% to $61.91 billion, with merchandise trade deficit widening to a 7-month high of $23.78 billion. The trade deficit was also 5.5% higher than a year-ago period. Commerce Secretary Sunil Barthwal while briefing the media highlighted a more optimistic outlook for trade this year. He said even the sectors like textiles saw a healthy growth of 9.8% after a period of sluggish growth.

"With the inflationary pressures coming down in advanced countries, there will be demand for imports. It's a positive trend that will continue," Barthwal said. As per official data, petroleum products exports grew by 15.75% year-on-year (YoY) to $6.78 billion in May 2024, engineering goods surged by 7.39% to $9.99 billion, electronic goods by 22.97% to $2.97 billion, and drugs and pharmaceuticals exports saw YoY growth of10.45% to $2.30 billion. Crude oil imports grew by 28% to $20 billion in May. On the other hand, gold imports declined slightly to $3.33 billion in May this year from $3.69 billion in the corresponding month of FY24.

For the period of April-May this fiscal year, exports increased by 5.1% to reach $73.12 billion, while imports rose by 8.89% to $116 billion, as per the data. Commerce secretary Sunil Barthwal said that India's higher economic growth compared to the global average is driving up domestic demand for imports and reducing the exportable surplus, which is a contributing factor to the widening trade gap. He added that widening trade deficit is not a concern considering foreign direct investment (FDI) and foreign exchange inflows. He also highlighted the impressive growth in devices exports.

Vodafone likely to sell its stake in Indus Tower for $2.3 billion

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

TELECOM giant Vodafone Group is expected to sell its entire $2.3 billion stake in Indus Towers through block deals next week, Reuters reported on Friday quoting sources. The move will be part of the British firm's effort to repay debt.

Vodafone currently owns 21.5% of mobile-tower operator Indus via different entities, valuing the investment at $2.3 billion as of stock price on June 14. The fresh report comes months after billionaire Sunil Mittal-led Bharti Airtel denied news reports that it was in talks to buy Vodafone Group's stake in Indus Towers. Bharti Airtel is Indus Towers' biggest shareholder, with a 47.95% stake.

According to the report, the final size of the stake sale is yet to be decided and could be lower than 21.5% if demand, which is still being assessed, is insufficient. Vodafone has hired Bank of America, Morgan Stanley and BNP Paribas to manage the deal. Vodafone plans to repay part of its $42.17 billion net debt using proceeds from Indus stake sale, added the report. The company in 2022 had announced it would be offloading its entire 28% stake, but has managed to sell only a small portion so far

Indus Towers, the country's largest telecom tower provider, recently reported profit of ₹1,853 crore for the quarter ended March 2024, an increase by 32.4% year-on-year. The company's revenues rose 6.5% to ₹7,193 crore in the same period. The company provides masts for mobile and data connectivity to all telecom service providers in the country. Its primary customers are Bharti Airtel and Vodafone Idea, the second and third largest carriers.

US court levies $194 mn penal charges on TCS

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

A US court has levied penal charges of about $194 million on IT major Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) for misappropriation of trade secrets, a regulatory filing said on Friday.

TCS, however, said it has strong arguments against the judgement and is taking necessary steps to protect its interest through review or appeal. The order has been passed against the company in a case filed by Computer Sciences Corporation (CSC), now merged with DXC Technology Company (DXC) -- alleging misappropriation of its trade secrets before US District Court, Northern District of Texas, Dallas Division.

"The court ordered that the company is liable to CSC for $56,151,583 in compensatory damages and $112,303,166 in exemplary damages. The court also assessed that the company is liable for $25,773,576.60 in prejudgment interest through June 13, 2024," company said in the filing. The court also passed certain injunctions and other reliefs against TCS, it added. "The company believes that the Judgement has no major adverse impact on its financials and operations," the filing said.

'India-UK trade pact issues to resolve after polls in UK'

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

EVs, liquor, services some sticking issues

The issues pertain to duties in sectors such as electric vehicles, liquor, and services. The UK's general election is scheduled for July 4 this year. Separately, Prime Minister Narendra Modi held a bilateral meeting with Britain's Prime Minister Rishi Sunak on the sidelines of the G7 Summit in Apulia, Italy.

THE pending issues relating to the long-awaited free trade agreement (FTA) between India and the UK will be sorted following the general elections in Britain, according to a government official.

The issues pertain to duties in sectors such as electric vehicles, liquor, and services. The UK's general election is scheduled for July 4 this year.

Separately, Prime Minister Narendra Modi held a bilateral meeting with UK Prime Minister Rishi Sunak on the sidelines of G7 Summit in Apulia, Italy. "... I reiterated my commitment to strengthen the India-UK Comprehensive Strategic Partnership in third term of the NDA govt. There is great scope to deepen ties in sectors like semiconductors, technology and trade. We talked about further cementing ties in the defence sector," Modi tweeted.

According to additional secretary in the Department of Commerce L Satya Srinivas, the eight round of talks on India-EU FTA will be held from June 24-28 in Brussels. Another senior government official said this time EU has more willingness to look at India's perspective in the deal in a favourable manner. He added that other countries which India is dealing with for FTAs are looking at the China-plus story and it is quite evident during the talks.

In addition the official said that the companies have begun reporting carbon emissions data with the EU. Domestic companies engaged in carbon-intensive sectors, including steel, cement, fertiliser, aluminium and hydrocarbon products, had to share data with the EU from October 1, 2023.

Furthermore, the proposed FTA with Oman, is being discussed and it is moving towards conclusion. He informed that both countries have some reservations with India having issues related to the petrochemicals sector. Oman is looking for duty concessions on petrochemicals products such as polypropylene and polyethylene, used in the plastics industry.

CHINA

MAY EXPORTS GROW FASTEST AT 7.6% IN OVER A YEAR

China's exports in May rose at their fastest pace in over a year despite trade tensions, as per customs data released on Friday. Imports fell short of analyst expectations. The country's exports grew 7.6 in the month from the same month last year to $302.35 billion, rising at the fastest pace since April 2023. Imports increased by 1.8% to $219.73 billion, missing estimates of about 4% growth. The uptick in exports is also partly due to a lower base in the same period last year, when exports declined 7.5%. In comparison, exports grew by 1.5% in April compared to the same period last year while April imports rose by 8.4%. The strong exports caused China's trade surplus to widen to $82.62 billion, up from April's $72.35 billion.

JAPAN

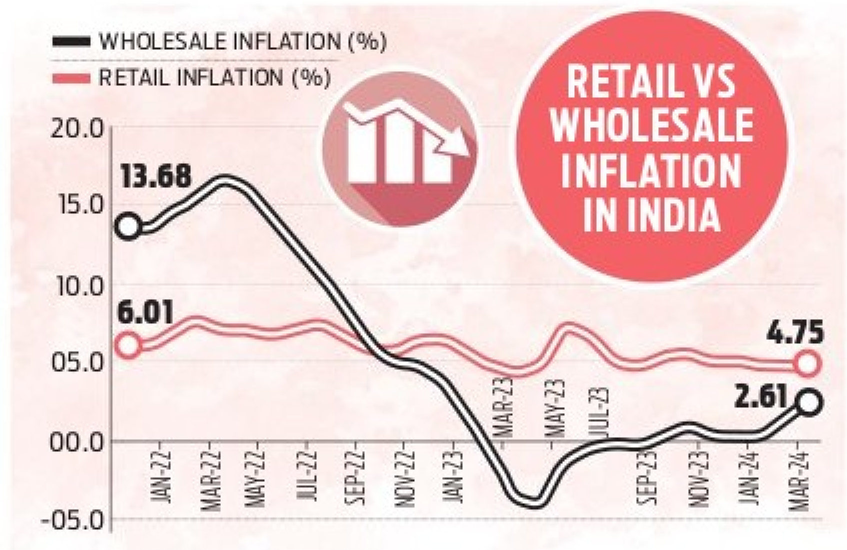
CONSUMER SPENDS UP IN APRIL FOR 1ST TIME IN 14 MONTHS

The household spending of Japan grew for the first time in 14 months in April from the year earlier, according to the official data released on Friday. Tepid growth showed consumers remained reluctant to loosen their purse-strings in the face of higher prices. According to the internal affairs ministry, consumer spending grew 0.5% in April from a year earlier. This was slightly below the median market forecast for a 0.6% uptick. On a seasonally adjusted, month-on-month basis, spending fell 1.2% as against estimated 0.2% rise. Sluggish private consumption is a source of concern for policymakers striving to achieve sustained economic growth underpinned by solid wages and durable inflation, which are prerequisites for normalising monetary policy.

THAILAND

MAY HEADLINE INFLATION HITS 13-MONTH HIGH

Headline inflation in Thailand hit its highest level in 13 months in May and returned to the central bank's target range of 1-3% for the first time in a year, according to the commerce ministry data released on Friday. The headline consumer price index (CPI) increased in May for a second straight month, a rise of 1.54% from a year earlier, after the previous month's annual rise of 0.19%, the ministry said. The inflation in May should ease pressure on the central bank to cut borrowing costs, sought by the government, when it next reviews monetary policy on Wednesday. Most economists expect the key rate to remain steady at a more than decade high of 2.5% next week.



Difference between retail, wholesale inflation narrows to 16-mnth low

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE gap between retail inflation and wholesale inflation has narrowed to 16-month low as the latter rose to a 15-month high in May to 2.6%.

The difference between the two has come down to 2.14 percentage points. Retail inflation in May was 4.75%. The difference was narrower than this only in January 2023, when the retail inflation logged 1.12 percentage points higher than the wholesale inflation.

The wholesale price index (WPI) in May doubled that of 1.3% recorded in the previous month. WPI had contracted by 3.61% in May 2023. The rise in May WPI was due to month-on-month rise across all major categories barring fuel and power, which showed a rise of 1.35% in May as against 1.38% in April. Wholesale prices of primary articles, which comprise of food articles, oil seeds, minerals and crude petroleum showed a jump of 7.2% in May as against 5.01% in April.

> On the back of good monsoon, we expect wholesale price index inflation to average around 3% in FY25
>
> Rajani Sinha, chief Economist, CareEdge

The large divergence between retail and WPI inflation has been an enigma of the Indian economy. The divergence was much higher last year, when in June 2023 retail inflation was 9 percentage points higher than the WPI. In June 2023, retail inflation clocked 4.87% rise, wholesale inflation fell 4.18%. Exactly a year ago in June 2022, a reverse trend was seen with WPI inflation exceeding retail inflation by 9.22 percentage points.

Experts cite the composition of the two indices for the sharp divergence. Wholesale price index, tracks prices in wholesale market, doesn't cover prices of services, making it much more volatile than the retail inflation index.

"Outlook for food inflation has brightened due to anticipations of a normal monsoon, which is expected to bolster agricultural production. We expect WPI to average around 3% in FY25," said Rajani Sinha, Chief Economist, CareEdge Ratings.

Hyundai Motor India files paper to raise ₹25K crore via IPO

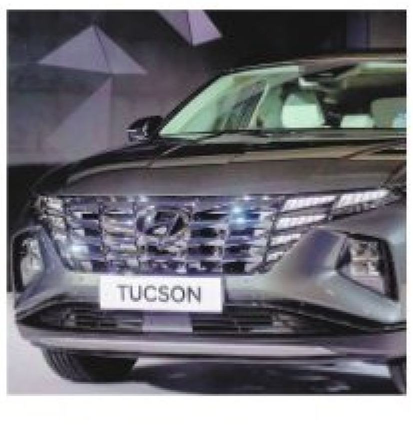
ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

SOUTH KOREAN automaker Hyundai Motor India is said to have filed draft papers for an initial public offering (IPO) for its India unit (Hyundai Motor India Ltd (HMIL)) with capital markets regulator SEBI on Friday.

According to reports, Hyundai is likely to sell 14.2 million shares or 17.5% stake in order to raise Rs 25,000 crore (about $3 billion) via this IPO which also will be India's biggest in its capital market history. At the moment, LIC holds the distinction of launching India's biggest IPO.

Sources had previously estimated Hyundai's India unit would command a valuation of up to $30 billion, making it one of the most valuable auto companies on the bourses.

According to reports, HMIL will not issue new shares in the IPO which will involve its South Korean parent selling part of its stake in the wholly owned unit to retail and other investors via a so-called "offer for sale" route. When contacted, Hyundai Motor India declined to comment.



This is the first time that Hyundai Motor is eyeing to get listed on a stock exchange outside its home country South Korea. The India IPO is aimed at accelerating Hyundai's expansion in the local market and reducing its dependency on the parent company for capital needs. HMIL has committed an investment of more than Rs 30,000 crore in the Indian market as it looks to expand its manufacturing capacity and transit towards electric vehicles. The company has plans to sell made-in-India EVs starting as early as next year, as well as set up a charging network and a battery facility.

Earlier this year, HMIL completed the acquisition of General Motors India's Talegaon Plant in Maharashtra which will play the role of a catalyst in achieving HMIL's 1 million annual production capacity milestone.

Hyundai entered India some 25 years ago and has firmly established itself as the country's second largest carmaker, only after Maruti Suzuki. It is also one of the top exporters of PVs from India. Currently, HMIL commands a market share of little more than 14% and faces tough competition from Tata Motors for the number 2 spot. Hyundai's domestic sales in FY24 were reported at 614,721 units, up 8.3% YoY. As per reports, HMIL had clocked a profit of ₹4,382 crore in FY24.

Corpus under NPS, APY crossed ₹12.3L cr; PFRDA raising awareness

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

Plans to launch balanced life cycle fund

PFRDA Chairman Deepak Mohanty said PFRDA is planning to launch a Balanced Life Cycle (BLC) fund as an additional investment avenue with enhanced equity exposure under the life cycle fund. This would be launched during the period from July-September.This pension fund will be 50% equity and 50% debt. he said it is a flexible low-cost regulatory scheme.

THE Pension Fund Regulatory and Development Authority (PFRDA) Chairman Deepak Mohanty on Friday said the total corpus under the National Pension System (NPS) and Atal Pension Yojana (APY) has crossed ₹12.3 lakh crore as of now and a target has been set at ₹15 lakh crore this fiscal year.

Addressing reporters here, Mohanty said the government employees covered under the national pension scheme is 92 lakh while in the private sector it is 56 lakh. In Tamil Nadu, he said 30% of women in the private sector from Chennai and 27% of them in the private sector in rest of the state are covered under the national pension scheme. This is more than the national average of 25% and it is due to larger participation of women in the workforce, he said.He said that a total of 16,000 corporates (both public and private) have joined the NPS but the take up rate among the corporate employees is not that high and PFRDA is increasing awareness so that more corporate employees join NPS.

Mohanty said in Tamil Nadu 2,500 corporates have taken to the NPS system. These include 4 lakh private sector employees.

Parrying away queries on Tamil Nadu not joining NPS, he said it is a flexible low-cost regulatory scheme. According to him, the returns under NPS are good. He added that the annual return on equity has been over 13%. Last year, since the equity market did well, the returns have been 33%. As per the PFRDA rules, a subscriber can withdraw a maximum 60% of pension money as lumpsum and the remaining 40% must be mandatorily used for buying annuity. He said that changes have been brought in the NPS system where the 30 per cent lumpsum which has to be drawn during retirement continues to stay with annuity funds until the age of 75.

Mohanty said the PFRDA is planning to launch a Balanced Life Cycle (BLC) fund as an additional investment avenue with enhanced equity exposure under the life cycle fund. This would be launched during the period from July to September. This pension fund will be 50% equity and 50% debt.

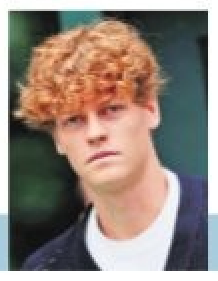
Sinner to play singles & doubles for Italy at Olympics



Top-ranked Jannik Sinner will compete in both singles and doubles at the Paris Olympics, the Italian tennis federation said. It will be the first Summer Games for the 22-year-old Sinner, who reached the top spot in the men's rankings following his run to the semifinals of the French Open. Sinner will team up with Lorenzo Musetti in doubles for Italy.

BEND IT LIKE FAROOQI

Left-arm pacer is the leading wicket-taker in the T20 World Cup at the moment with 12 scalps from three matches

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN
@Chennai

THESE are heady days for the Afghanistan men's cricket team. On Thursday night, they eased past Papua New Guinea to advance to the Super 8 stage of the tournament. During the course of that win, two of the standout names of the T20 World Cup thus far — Rahmanullah Gurbaz and Fazalhaq Farooqi — went back to topping the run-scoring and wicket-taking charts. It continues the remarkable story of a side who was deep in the trenches, playing the sport in the lower divisions as late as 12 years ago. Heck, they were only recognised as an Associate Member of the ICC in 2013.

Over the last two weeks, they have been playing like relative veterans, an equal mix of control and flair. It's true that they were expected to put up a tight fight with New Zealand and West Indies but they have brought their A game to the table in conditions helpful to all their bowling types. But nobody could have predicted the evisceration they handed out to the Kiwis. As a result, they are sitting pretty at the top with three wins in as many games (their performances have basically rendered their league clash against West Indies irrelevant).

But coach Jonathan Trott begged to disagree after their regulation win over PNG. "We still have one game left, an important group game," he told reporters. "It's going to be a good gauge of where we are against a powerful West Indies side who won an incredible game last night (Wednesday) from the position they were in. So, it's nice to have won tonight and got qualification. To come to a World Cup and win three (games) is a nice feeling, but also the realisation and reality that we haven't won anything yet. We only achieved the group stage and we have got some important matches coming up."

If they are to have a chance of progressing through to the semifinals — as it stands, it looks like they will be with Australia, India and Bangladesh — Farooqi will be an important player. He has found copious amount of new ball swing to expose the middle-order early doors. Against Uganda, he picked up two in the first over, with two classical inswinging deliveries from over the wicket. Knowing he had his best friend for company, new ball movement, he focused on keeping the stumps in play. A bowled and a leg-before were just rewards.

With movement up front, you can also challenge both edges. Against the Kiwis in the same venue (Guyana), after removing one of Finn Allen's poles off the first ball of their innings, he found Daryl Mitchell's outside edge and Gurbaz did the rest. PNG's top order also had no answers to the left-armer's guile. Two of his deliveries found both edges and Gurbaz was alert to complete both offerings.

ICC MEN'S T20 WORLD CUP WEST INDIES & USA 2024 JUNE 1-29 AMERICAN EXPEDITION

In all, out of the 12 wickets he has taken so far, seven have come in the powerplay. Out of that seven, there have been two instances of back-to-back wickets. Versus the Kiwis, he picked up a wicket in each of his three overs inside the powerplay. In all, he has returned with combined figures of 7/34 in eight overs (average of 4.85 while striking every 6.85 balls). There will be a regression to the mean at some stage but, still, these are crazy numbers to say the least.

Trott mentioned that he has received some inputs from DJ Bravo, the all-rounder who knows these conditions like the back of his hand. "He's been really good I think when he gets his line. That, with the pace and swing, he's very dangerous but I think he can bowl even better," the Englishman said. "Working with our bowling coach, Hamid Hassan, and obviously DJ Bravo for this tournament, we have seen him stand up and have some real match-winning performances."

When reporters asked Farooqi the kind of inputs Bravo has been giving (he is a consultant with the Afghan team at the World Cup), Farooqi said: "He's an old-ball bowler, for the death. But whatever I'm doing with the new ball, that's my skill. He just supports me. He says, 'you're doing good' and that's the main thing. He's giving me (tips), especially in the death, how should I bowl in the pressure time, how should I use the slower ball, how should I use the length ball."

The 23-year-old also revealed that he had turned his attention towards the World Cup during his time with Hyderabad in the IPL. "I didn't get any chance to play in the IPL but I was working on my skill, to improve my skill to do better...

"My mentality is simple. Whenever I was playing in Under-19 or Under-16, I thought, I'm not a big man, I'm not someone big and tall and bowling very fast. At that time, I was just thinking to improve my skill to do something different from the others... I was going to learn to bowl swing and that now for me is simple."

Amen.

UEFA EURO2024 GERMANY

PORTUGAL

Their squad depth is so scary it can genuinely rival France's, especially in the forward areas. That the likes of Diogo Jota, Joao Felix, Matheus Nunes and Pedro Neto may not even make the starting line-up tells you about the embarassment of riches. Under Roberto Martinez, they are also more proactive. In qualifying, they won all 10 games, scoring 36 in the process. The big challenge is the management of Cristiano Ronaldo.

Champions: 2016 Last time: Round of 16

GEORGIA

Debutants have levelled up this qualifying campaign considering they were finishing bottom even as late as eight years ago. Riding on the back of individual brilliance — Napoli's Khvicha Kvaratskhelia to name one — they advanced through the Nations League pathway. Will put men behind the ball and look to hit teams on the break.

Champions: 1960 (as part of USSR) Last time: didn't qualify

TURKIYE

Came into the last edition as darkhorses. Promptly lost each of their three league fixtures. In a soft group, they will have designs on getting out of the groups. With the likes of Arda Guler (a Real youngster who has showcased some glimpses) and Kenan Yildiz (Juventus forward), they do have some youth prospects capable of providing the stardust. Did well to top a qualifying group comprising of Croatia and Wales.

Champions: NIL Last time: Group stage

CZECHIA

Make themselves very hard to beat as evidenced by their qualifying campaign where they only beaten once en route to finishing second. Depend a lot on the goals of Patrik Schick (he scored one of the goals of the tournament in 2021) with the likes of Adam Hlozek providing creativity. Premier League fans will know the familiar faces of Vladimir Coufal and Tomas Soucek, two men who will play crucial defensive roles.

WILL RAIN SPOIL THE HIGH SPIRITS?

After three wins in as many fixtures in New York, India have already qualified for the Super 8s, but they would prefer to have some match time. However, the flood-like situation in Florida and predicted rain for the day, could spoil the plans.

A MUST-WIN FOR ENGLAND

After a dominating win against Oman, England have improved their net run rate significantly. The defending champions are still in contention for Super 8s, however, they need to win against Namibia to be the second team from group B to qualify for Super 8s.

CAN AUSTRALIA CONTINUE THEIR RUN?

The Mitchell Marsh-led side became the first side from Group B to qualify for the Super 8s, but Scotland have won two matches while their tournament opener against England got washed out. It is a must-win clash for Scotland as a win against Australia will put them in the Super 8s.

USA in Super 8s, Pak out of WC

LAUDERHILL: The fixture between USA and Ireland was called off due to wet outfield on Friday, which led to hosts qualifying for the Super 8s. With this result, Pakistan are out of contention. By qualifying for Super 8s, USA have qualified for the 2026 T20 WC.

England stay in contention

ST JOHN'S: England hammered Oman by 8 wickets as the reigning champions revived their T20 World Cup campaign with a record-breaking win on Thursday. Needing a heavy victory to bolster their net run-rate as they attempt to overhaul Scotland in the race to qualify for the second round, England routed Oman for just 47. England then made 50-2 in a mere 3.1 overs. This overwhelming Group B victory meant England recorded the largest win in T20 WC history in terms of balls remaining. England's net run-rate climbed to 3.081, better than Scotland's 2.16, although they stayed third on three points, behind the Scots' five. Brief scores: Oman 47 in 13.2 ovs (Rashid 4/11, Wood 3/12, Archer 3/12) lost to England 50/2 in 3.1 ovs.

BAI pushing for personal coaches' inclusion during Olympics

ANMOL GURUNG @Chennai

2012: 1 bronze. 2016: 1 silver. 2020: 1 bronze. 2024: ?. Indian shuttlers will be hopeful of maintaining country's habit of returning with a medal from the Olympics. PV Sindhu, Lakshya Sen, HS Prannoy will be leading India's bid in the singles while Satwiksairaj Rankireddy/Chirag Shetty (men's) and Tanisha Crasto/Ashwini Ponnappa (women's) will be trying to script history in the doubles. The Badminton Association of India (BAI) is hoping that the shuttlers can raise the bar in the Paris Games.

"This is the Olympics and the players are bound to be under some form of pressure. But the players are doing what they can. I believe we should get two to three medals at least," Sanjay Mishra, BAI secretary general, said.

With that objective in mind, BAI is hopeful of sending all the personal coaches/physios as per their individual requirements to Paris. There are generally restrictions in regards to the number of support staff at the Olympic Village. In a sport where the margins are fine, that could be a massive boost for the shuttlers. Coaches generally tend to be the third eye, the unsung heroes who help players problem-solve even during tense matches apart from regular training and guidance.

"With the help of SAI and IOA, we are looking to try and get them personal coaches/physios to travel to Paris. And things are looking positive in that regard," Mishra revealed.

Sindhu, the winner of two aforementioned Olympic medals, is again expected to garner keen interest. However, the 28-year-old has not hit the standards she is used to in recent times. After her return from injury, she toiled a bit before showing some signs of improvements during the Malaysia Masters. But she was knocked out in the very first round in her last event — Indonesia Open. But Sindhu has time and again shown that she can never be written off.

Mishra thinks likewise. "Sindhu is doing very well. After her comeback from injury, she had faced a little bit of a problem but now she seems to be fine. She's a two-time Olympic medallist. She won't have as much pressure as she has already handled the same in the past. We are expecting a third medal from her but there's no pressure on her. She is someone who can rise to the occasion anytime and we're hopeful that she'll have a good campaign."

Satwik and Chirag, on the other hand, have had an organic rise to the top. Moreover, they had won their second French Open title earlier this year, a massive outcome as the Olympic event will be held at the same venue. However, playing regularly at the high-level has taken a toll on them. "The top-10 in the men's doubles section is almost equal. They have had injury issues and that is part of the game. However, one must take note that even if the players are 5 per cent down, that can make a massive difference. Now they are fit and doing well. Events like the Olympics and the All England are all about handling pressure. If they can do that, they can surely return with a medal," Mishra noted.

Sports minister-IOA meeting symbolic but challenges remain in the short & long term

THIS is rare. If senior sports administrators are to be believed, it could be one of the first instances of a sports minister visiting the India Olympic Association (IOA) office after taking charge. On Thursday, Mansukh Mandaviya, the newly appointed Union Minister for Sports, went to meet IOA president PT Usha at the Olympic Bhawan in New Delhi. This could also be seen as a symbolic gesture when the IOA chief and most EC members are at loggerheads.

The IOA has been in turmoil, especially after the appointment of Raghuram Iyer, the Chief Executive Officer (CEO), in January this year. Majority of the EC members had objected to this and had revolted against Usha. No EC meeting has taken place; even the general body meeting is yet to happen in 2024. The sports minister-IOA president meeting might send a signal to all dissident members, but it may not broker peace unless something drastic happens. It is a known fact that most EC members are not aligned with the IOA president, they would be assessing the situation closely. One must keep in mind that the IOA is an autonomous body and third party interference may not go down well with the International Olympic Committee (IOC).

The appointment of Mandaviya, who hails from Gujarat, also indicates that government would want the 2036 Olympic bid with Ahmedabad as the main venue. The bidding process has already started and more interactions will be in the pipeline, especially during the Paris Olympics. But one thing is sure. For a strong Olympic bid, a strong IOA is needed, not a fractured one. This was reiterated by the IOC as well during various conversations.

The IOA had posted on its X handle that besides taking stock of the Olympic preparation, the sports minister and the body discussed ways to spread awareness about the Olympic movement. Before that, the IOA must get its product the National Games back on track.

FLIPSIDE
INDRANEEL DAS

But the challenges ahead of the sports minister will not be limited to the IOA. There has been a breakdown of trust between the National Sports Federations, sports ministry and SAI. In fact, there have been instances when elections of certain federations were dragged to court. The SAI had apparently stopped funding most NSFs directly because of a Delhi High Court order of September 2023, which made it mandatory for all NSFs to ensure strict compliance of the Sports Code. The NSFs are in a precarious position too. Any election can be challenged in the court because of sports code violation. "It is further made clear that in respect of all future elections, the respondent, Union of India, shall ensure strict compliance of the judgement delivered in W.P.(C) No. 195/2010 dated 16.08.2022," said the September order. Going by various Delhi HC orders in the last three years (since All India Football Federation and IOA cases), almost all NSFs' recognition and existence seem to be threatened. The biggest challenge is in implementing the code at the district level, which NSFs feel is apparently due to lack of competent administrators.

Another issue that has been plaguing the NSF right now is the term and tenure clause. Earlier this was limited to office bearers – in IOA, there were three (president, secretary and treasurer) but now it has been extended to all EC members. There have been issues during elections of NSFs recently. There are about six to eight federations whose matters went to the court in the last six months or elections stayed. Two years on, the Judo Federation of India is still run by an administrator. There is no clarity on kabaddi federation, either.

It needs to be seen how the minister tackles these issues. Mandaviya's crisis management skills were tested when he took charge of Health during the Delta wave in 2021. All eyes will be on him as he tries to find a lasting solution in sports and sports administration too.

S V KRISHNA CHAITANYA @Chennai

WHILE the world's efforts are centered around reducing carbon dioxide and methane emissions to keep global warming within 1.5 to 2 degree Celsius rise, there is another more potent greenhouse gas whose emissions are continuing unabated — nitrous oxide (N_2O).

Between 1980 and 2020, nitrous oxide emissions witnessed a sharp increase of 40% largely driven by unsustainable practices in global food production, according to a new report by the Global Carbon Project.

The report titled "Global Nitrous Oxide Budget 2024", led by researchers from Boston College and published in the journal Earth System Science Data, says the uncontrolled use of nitrogen fertilisers and animal manure in agricultural production contributed 74% of the total anthropogenic nitrous oxide emissions in the last decade.

In an era when greenhouse gas emissions must decline to reduce global warming, in 2020 and 2021 nitrous oxide flowed into the atmosphere at a faster rate than at any other time in history. On Earth, excess nitrogen contributes to soil, water and air pollution. In the atmosphere, it depletes the ozone layer and exacerbates climate change.

> Reducing nitrous oxide emissions is the only solution since at this point no technologies exist that can remove nitrous oxide from the atmosphere
>
> Hanqin Tian, lead author and Schiller Institute Prof of Global Sustainability at Boston College

Agricultural emissions reached 8 million metric tons in 2020, a 67% increase from the 4.8 million metric tons released in 1980, according to the study. It is the most comprehensive study of global nitrous oxide emissions and sinks produced by a team of 58 researchers from 55 organisations in 15 countries.

For the study, the researchers examined data collected around the world for all major economic activities that lead to nitrous oxide emissions and reported on 18 anthropogenic and natural sources and three absorbent "sinks" of the global nitrous oxide.

"Nitrous oxide emissions from human activities must decline in order to limit global temperature rise to 2°C as established by the Paris Agreement," said the report's lead author, Hanqin Tian, the Schiller Institute Professor of Global Sustainability at Boston College. The study says the concentration of atmospheric nitrous oxide reached 336 parts per billion in 2022, a 25% increase over pre-industrial levels that far outpaces predictions previously developed by the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change (IPCC). This emission increase is taking place when the global greenhouse gases should be rapidly declining towards net zero emissions if we have any chance to avoid the worst effects of climate change.

India second largest emitter

The top five emitters by volume of anthropogenic nitrous oxide emissions in 2020 were China (16.7%), India (10.9%), USA (5.7%), Brazil (5.3%), and Russia (4.6%). The per capita emissions (Kg N_2O/person) for the top five emitters are 1.3 (China), 0.8 (India), 1.7 (USA), 2.5 (Brazil), and 3.3 (Russia).

Anthropogenic nitrous oxide emissions from four emerging economies have more than doubled to 135% (China), 157% (India), 131% (Brazil) and 117% (Turkey) relative to 1980. Direct nitrogen additions in agriculture are the main cause of the increase.

G V Ramanjaneyulu, Executive Director, Centre of Sustainable Agriculture, India, said: "This report on the nitrous oxide budget is timely and alarming. India ranks second in the world concerning N_2O emissions from nitrogen fertilisers, which are all subsidised by over 80% in India. In addition to its emissions contributing to climate change, nitrogen fertilisers are polluting water bodies. It's time India takes this wake-up call seriously and changes cropping systems and production practices. Fertiliser subsidies should be repurposed to support alternative production systems."

Some countries have seen success in implementing policies and practices to reduce nitrous oxide emissions, according to the report. Emissions in China have slowed since the mid 2010s, as have emissions in Europe during the past few decades. In the US, agricultural emissions continue to creep up while industrial emissions have declined slightly, leaving overall emissions rather flat.

Way forward

Improved practices in agriculture around the use of nitrogen fertilisers and animal manure will help address and reduce greenhouse gas emissions and water pollution. "While there have been some successful nitrogen reduction initiatives in different regions, we found an acceleration in the rate of nitrous oxide accumulation in the atmosphere in this decade," said Global Carbon Project Executive Director Josep Canadell, who is also a research scientist at CSIRO, Australia's national science agency.

Tian said there is a need for more frequent assessments so mitigation efforts can be targeted to high-emission regions and economic activities. An improved inventory of sources and sinks will be required if progress is to be made toward the Paris Agreement. "There is a strong correlation between nitrous oxide emissions use and agricultural productivity. By adopting regenerative and agroecological practices, sub-Saharan Africa can increase agricultural and livestock productivity without increasing emissions from the use of nitrogen fertilisers," said Dr Alex Awiti, Principal Scientist, Agroecology and Policy Advisor at CIFOR-ICRAF (Center for International Forest Research – World Agroforestry).

Researchers said the biggest problem is there is no good alternative. The food production system will always have some N_2O leak. The goal is to make the food system as nitrogen-efficient as possible to cut emissions.

Badminton player Lakshya Sen and his father, former coach DK Sen, have much in common, the most evident being their love for badminton. Ahead of Father's Day, the duo speaks their hearts out...

DAD'S THE WORD!

MONIKA MONALISA

INDIAN shuttler Lakshya Sen's glory, each and every time he represents India, has been a proud moment for his countrymen. But cheering him on more than anyone else is his father DK Sen. Sen senior, who was Lakshya's first coach, also turned out to be one of the main reasons why Lakshya got interested in badminton. "I have seen my grandfather and father play. That sort of automatically got me inclined toward the sport," says Lakshya, who is looking forward to the 2024 Paris Olympics.

The 22-year-old recalls his father being a strict disciplinarian. "At the training centre as a coach, he was always very strict. From the very beginning, he made sure that a sense of discipline was inculcated in everyone," recalls Lakshya. Not surprisingly, being disciplined was his first key learning from his father. He adds, "Neither my brother, Chirag Sen, nor I, could flout rules. There was no getting away from not being serious about training."

Lakshya Sen with his father DK Sen

There are many other aspects that Lakshya has learnt from his father, but if there is one quality he wants to imbibe and replicate in his life, it would be the undying passion for badminton. "Dad's passion for this sport is unmatchable. He has been coaching for nearly four decades and still wakes up at 5-5.30am. Whenever we are training, he's always there, and is the first one to come and the last to leave the stadium," says Lakshya. He also adds, "He is one of my biggest support systems. Any time I win, he is the happiest person. And if I lose, he becomes sad and emotional."

Back in 2018, it was not the easiest decision for Sen, one of the country's most respected badminton coaches, to leave the terrains of Almora and take voluntary retirement from the Sports Authority of India (SAI). The decision was to help Lakshya start his career in the city.

"It was a decision that had to be taken for the future of Lakshya and Chirag. The decision didn't come easy since it was also our hometown. Even their mother, who was a teacher by profession, took voluntary retirement. It is a very strenuous profession for which you need good food and rest. A sportsman needs a healthy environment, both mentally and physically, to grow," explains Sen, adding that he is lucky that Lakshya is self-regulated so he does not have to be 'strict' with him.

Playing the role of both father and coach can be tricky, but Sen deals with it in a straightforward manner. "They are also growing up and have their own circle of friends. We should also give them their space. If we start interfering in everything, they will start rebelling. There will be disagreements but those are normal in every household. There is nothing that a healthy discussion at a dinner table can't solve," signs off Sen.

PMD INITIATIVE

From Humble Beginnings to a Leading Enterprise

The Story of S M Baliga & Company

Established in 1972, S M Baliga & Company has grown from a modest distributorship into a comprehensive service provider across multiple industries. The company's foundation was laid by partners Shailesh M Baliga and Pavitra S Baliga, who had a vision to serve the business community, bankers, and jewellers in and around Hubballi.

"We saw a need for reliable security products in our community," said Shailesh M Baliga, reflecting on the early days. "That's when we decided to collaborate with Chubb-Steelage Industries Ltd., the world's oldest manufacturer of safes and strong room doors."

Starting as distributors for Chubb-Steelage (now GUNNEBO), the Baligas introduced highly acclaimed security products to the local market. Their professional approach and dedication quickly established them as trusted suppliers and service providers, not just in Hubballi, but across the entire state of Karnataka and five districts in Tamil Nadu. The range of products offered by S M Baliga & Company ensured that they could recommend the right solution for various security requirements.

"Chubb-Steelage expanded their capacity in India with cutting-edge technology," explained Pavitra S Baliga. "Their reputation for after-sales service aligned perfectly with our commitment to quality and customer satisfaction."

Over the years, S M Baliga & Company has built a privileged clientele that includes major players in India's banking, IT, jewellery, and retail sectors. This success paved the way for further expansion. In 2001, the company became an authorised dealer for Honda Motorcycles & Scooters India Ltd., establishing nine branches in South Bengaluru.

"The decision to partner with Honda was driven by our desire to diversify and provide more value to our customers," said Shailesh. "Our success in this venture led to further expansions in Mandya District and additional branches in Malavalli, Nagamangala, Chinakurli, and Channapatna by 2004."

The Baligas' ability to adapt and grow with market demands did not stop there. In 2018, S M Baliga & Company became channel partners with Canon India, setting up a BIS Lounge for demonstrations and displays of a wide range of multifunctional devices, document scanners, and software solutions.

"This partnership allowed us to cater to the IT sector more effectively," Pavitra noted. "We served renowned companies like Levi's, Oakwood, Hilton, India Cement, and Prestige Brigade. Our clientele also included automobile dealers such as KHT Motors, Siddhanth Motors, Meghdooth Motors, VFM, Akshay Benz, and various government sectors like BEML, BEL, HAL, and South Western Railways."

The company's growth trajectory continued with the inclusion of the banking segment, serving institutions like Karnataka Bank, Canara Bank, Vijaya Bank, Indian Bank, and various cooperative banks.

In 2019, S M Baliga & Company became distributors for Tata Autocomp Batteries P Ltd., and in 2021, they were authorised as a dealer for Piaggio Vehicles P Ltd. These strategic partnerships further solidified their position in the market.

Today, S M Baliga & Company employs 450 people, a testament to their continuous improvement in providing quality products and on-time service. "Our success is attributed to the dedicated efforts of our team," Shailesh remarked. "We ensure a unique and enjoyable buying experience that exceeds customer expectations."

Pavitra added, "We believe in building long-term relationships with our clients. Our approach is always customer-centric, ensuring that we meet their needs with the highest standards of service."

From its humble beginnings in 1972 to its current status as a multi-faceted enterprise, S M Baliga & Company's journey is a story of vision, dedication, and relentless pursuit of excellence. The Baligas' ability to anticipate market needs and their commitment to customer satisfaction have been the driving forces behind the company's remarkable growth.

FITBIT

SAHAJA ANANTASANA

(EASY SIDE RECLINING LEG LIFT POSE)

This is a beginner-level pose that is performed in the side-lying position and is named after the Hindu god Vishnu, who is normally seen lying on his sides. It is an excellent warm-up before the beginning of any class to bring mobility to the body. The pose can be performed by teens, pregnant women, seniors, and athletes alike. It strengthens the pelvic floor muscles, helps tone the transverse abdominis and the hamstrings, and increases blood circulation, especially to areas such as the prostate gland, gonads, and pineal body. This pose can be performed as part of Hatha Yoga, Vinyasa Flows, Restorative Yoga, or Gentle Yoga classes. Despite its simplicity, the pose is beneficial to reduce fat in the hips, waist, love handles, or inner thighs. It also helps relieve backaches.

STEPS

- Start in Supine Extended Mountain Pose, stretching your entire body from head to toe.
- Turn and lie down on your left side in Sahaja Anantasana Variation (Easy Side Reclining Pose Variation) with your left arm stretched out and your right palm placed on the floor.
- Fold the elbow of your left arm, and place the left palm under your head for support.
- Stay here and focus on your breathing.
- Exhale, lift your right leg to a 30-degree angle, and hold it for up to 10 breaths or as per your comfort.
- Breathe normally.
- To feel the full impact, close your eyes and feel the crunch on the side of your abdomen and the stretch in your leg.
- To release, slowly bring your right leg back on top of your left leg and get back into the Sahaja Anantasana Variation.
- You can perform up to 10 rounds in the beginning.
- Perform on the other side using the same instructions.
- Relax and rest.

LIMITATIONS

- People who have injuries in the ankles, knees, shoulders, lower back, stress or pain in the neck, have undergone surgery in their knee, hip, spine, abdominal region, or have hernia, are unable to lie on side, have weak ankles, knee joints, and shoulders, or have undergone chest ailments or surgeries, should avoid this pose.
- Pregnant women and seniors should be aware of their limitations.

BENEFITS

- Stretches the legs and hamstrings.
- Strengthens the transverse abdominis and the pelvic floor muscles.
- Helps in walking and running, ensuring ease of mobility.
- Reduces the stiffness of the body.
- Reduces muscular tension in the lower back region and hips.
- Activates energy, allowing it to move freely throughout the body.
- It balances the Muladhara (root) Chakra.
- Massages and stimulates various organs located in the abdominal region.
- Targets visceral fat that develops around the different organs and aids in reducing it.
- Increases the mobility of the hips, legs, and waist and ensures that they remain flexible.
- Regular practice helps to increase the balance of the body.
- Acts as a transit pose for various flows.
- Increases blood circulation, especially to areas such as the prostate gland, gonads, and pineal body.
- This pose can be performed by teens, pregnant women, seniors, and athletes.

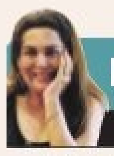
SLAP-GATE!



RUBINATIONS

Rubi Chakravarti

Writer, actor and funny girl

I belong to a multi-cultural family and where one part of my gene-pool is grandiloquent, astute and gentle-natured whereas the other side is represented by a robust clan of fearless people who were adept at being conquerors and warriors. My siblings and I represented the 'warrior-conqueror' side in appearance but the triumph of the 'grey-matter' always prevailed. We were taught to reason and comprehend and the use of any force, brute or otherwise was firmly discouraged. This lesson was promptly passed down to our 'conqueror-warrior' looking children!

After all my gift of repartee and usage of rhetoric bode me well throughout my life. My father, an Armyman and a thinking genius, wore his uniform free from all bias except from enemies who threatened the fabric of who we are as a people. That impeccable training folks, keeps us all safe from prejudgment becomes the very basis of our existence. In times of national-emergency, a civilian magistrate has to be present with every sortie that goes out to oversee any (if all) excesses that may occur. Though it may sound idealistic. 'Use your brain not your brawn'!

So though I secretly was elated with the 'slap-gate' incident that occurred and for a split second I even applauded it. A quick thought of how many people in my mind deserved a slap crossed my mind. Obnoxious people with verbal diarrhea topped my list along with the entitled, racist, bigoted, insincere 'people-in-white' who talk a whole bunch of malarkey and the list can go on. The very phase 'a-slap-in-the-face' denotes a lowering of prestige and disrespect, (though there are some people I would have liked to inflict pain on). But jokes aside, the concept of wearing a uniform of your country and then assaulting the very people you have sworn to protect doesn't sit very well with me, perhaps because my father epitomised what true honour and courage was. Maybe it's a Utopian situation but we have to start behaving and believing in our innate grace, fairness and honourableness. The moment we don the country's uniform we have to keep our personal agendas aside.

That being said I avoided controversy by hanging around with friends. My good friend and fellow – gastronome, Suresh Hinduja had a showcasing of Sindh cuisine at The Leela Bhartiya City. A table of discerning epicureans listened with rapt attention as he talked us through the evolution of Sindhi cuisine through the ages. Aptly titled 'Legends of Sind', the dinner did make us 'pop-up' with interest!

Sabina and Irfan are one of the most popular couples in Bengaluru and when they celebrated their 'ruby-anniversary', this Rubi showed up wearing bells and whistles! A charming party surrounded with good-friends, great food and even better cocktails with the rain adding that touch of romance. The afternoon was 'purrrfect'!

The highlight of my 'ahimsa' week was meeting up with a core group of my friends and enjoying a four hour lunch at Idyll, a new quasi-Indian restaurant that has already garnered eyeballs for their delicious food and superlative cocktails. Idyll's young partner Nischay Sharma was at hand explaining the concept of the restaurant and in turn being thoroughly amused and fascinated by this mature group of women who could discuss topics ranging from food to past-life episodes!

Viva diversity and tolerance!
